CURRENT COMMENT

By Chester H. Rowell

THIS is the season of newspaper circulation statements, most of which are too near to make discussion of them discreet. There is one, further away, which is a subject of really national congratulation. That is the statement of the New York Times of an average circulation of 414,990, an increase of 22,000 and the largest circulation of any "quality paper" anywhere.

This is gratifying as a tribute to the intelligence of the American people. The Times has done all the things that critics of American newspapers demand — has been clean and decent, has printed all the news fully and accurately, and has treated its readers as if they were intelligent. It is a serious paper, for seriously intelligent people, with no appeal of any sort of clap-trap. It prints more foreign news than any other paper, and regards books, art, science and discovery as news, as well as sports, murders and scandals. That it is also a tremendous business success, and that there are 415,000 people who are willing to pay that for that sort of paper, in competition with cheaper and flashier ones, indicates that the sneers of the cynics on American intelligence are not so well justifies, after all.

WILL the English language, not as written in books, but as spoken by the people, finally break up, first into dialects and then into languages, as spoken Latin did into Italian, Spanish and French?

Here is a recent illustration of how far it has already gone:

An Australian labor commissioner visiting America recently said: "A bonzor sheila and a linkum bloke got stoushed by the push before the johns mooched along. It was a fair cow."

After some difficulty, an American colleague translated it as follows: "A knockout sketch of a hot baby and an ace high sport got beat up by some tough eggs before the cops woke up. It was a dirty deal."

After considerable help from them both a newspaper reporter put it into book English in these words: "A fine girl and a nice boy were attacked by ruffians and severely beaten before the policemen arrived. The asasult was an outrage."

The only one of these languages that everybody can understand is the last; but it is also the one that nobody ever uses, except for print.

THE need of the "doc" is getting acute. The Genesee County Grange, in New York, has appointed a committee to see if some organized way can not be devised to obtain the services of physicians in an emergency. A young man only two miles in the country had recently died without medical attention because all the doctors in the neighboring town were specialists, or did not make night calls. A little organization, such as exists in many places, could meet such emergencies, but the old-fashioned individual practitioner is no longer adequate. With the retirement of the older practitioners, and the increasing specialization of the younger, the difficulty will increase.

OTHER problems in making available modern medical service for a large class of people press for attention. A New York committee is promoting a hospital for persons of middle income, who can not be admitted to the free wards of public hospitals, and cannot afford the price of the present private rooms and service. Hospitalization for the poor and for the rich is adequate, but not for those in between, for whom the need is, if anything, most acute, on account of the decreasing size of modern homes and apartments. In one of these newer cubicles, in which the "white-collar men" keep up appearances, there is literally no place to be ill. The hospital is a necessity, but, except in its charity wards, it is beyond reach.

STILL other efforts are being made, in "clinics to prevent illness," to extend preventive medical service to those not ordinarily reached by it. Ideally, the time to consult your physician or dentist is before there is anything the matter with you. You do not wait until your house is afire to take out fire insurance, or until you are on your death bed to insure your life. The physician's assistance would be most valuable if it could be given regularly. most of the time to patients in good health. The only obstacle is the present method of paying medical fees. If the physician is to work by the year he should be paid by the year. The present method more resembles that of the volunteer fire department of old Japan, which arrived on the scene and bargained with householders which would pay the highest price for protecting his house. We find it cheaper to pay the firemen when there is no fire.

Air Mail Pilot Killed In Crash

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, April 16.—William Sanborn, air mail pilot for the Varney lines into the northwest, was found dead in his fallen plane near King Hill, Idaho, late yesterday.

Sanborn left Salt Lake City at 1:40 yesterday afternoon with a mail plane for the northwest. About 5:20 two ranch hands near King Hill saw the plane fall and found Sanborn in the cockpit, dead.

Reports here were that Sanborn had attempted to make a landing in the teeth of adverse winds

Shooting Believed to Have Been Done by Northern Troops on Yangtze Bank

(By United Press)

SHANGHAI, April 16.—U. S. warships in the Yangtze river were frequently under Chinese fire today, but in all instances were able to silence the snipers with large guns. One man was wounded in the leg aboard the destroyer Preble.

The U. S. S. Cincinnati, Ford and Preble were fired on. Most of the Chinese shooting apparently was done by north China troops, who returned to the north bank of the Yangtze after having been driven beyond it by the Nationalist advance last month.

The U. S. S. Preble was in an engagement with Chinese opposite the Kiangyin forts and one man aboard the Preble was reported to have been wounded in the leg.

Report Missionary Captured

Miss M. I. Craig, an American missionary, was reported captured today by Chinese bandits between Kweichow and Yuanfu, U. S. marine corps headquarters here was notified.

The Cincinnati was the third American vessel fired upon near Nanking in the last three days. The U. S. S. Noa silenced northern Chinese guns, attacking it at Pukow, Thursday. The destroyer Ford yesterday used four-inch shrapnel shells against northern soldiers, who had attacked the destroyer and a Standard Oil ship between Nanking and Pukow and just across the Yangtze.

The Cincinnati did not halt during its brush with Chinese on the river bank.

Northern troops in trenches abreast of the Ford at Nanking fired on the Standard Oil vessel Meian, and the Ford returned the fire with machine guns. The British gunboat Emerald assisted the Ford and Chinese turned their guns on the American warship, scoring frequent hits but without casualties.

Ford Silences Chinese

The Ford silenced the Chinese with four-inch shrapnel.

(The engagement between the Ford and the Chinese was reported from Washington yesterday.)

The Preble opened her main battery against northern fire from the Kiangyin forts and silenced the Chinese. Machine guns and four-inch guns were employed by the Preble during the several minutes in which shots were exchanged.

The Chinese general labor unions today ordered the entire membership of 800,000 to strike in protest against the disarming of laborers by moderate Nationalist soldiers.

FACTION WARFARE SPREADS TO CANTON

HONG KONG, April 16.—Warfare between factions of the Nationalist government has spread to Canton, where, it was reported here today, 100 persons were killed in street fighting between Communists and moderates.

Canton was the first capital of the Nationalists in the days of the late Dr. Sun Yat Sen and gave its name to the Nationalists, who still are known as Cantonese.

General Li Chai Sun, adherent of General Chiang Kai-Shek, moderatist leader, staged a successful anti-Bolshevik coup d'etat, it was reported.

The foreign settlement was not endangered by the fighting.

General Li unexpectedly raided labor union and Communist headquarters yesterday in Canton, following the lead of Chiang in Shanghai last week.

Armed Communists resisted the raids and bloody fighting through the streets was reported. Hundreds of alleged Communists were arrested.

Theaters throughout the city were ordered to suspend performances.

Police raided two hotels in Hong Kong today as a precautionary measure, fearing agitators from Canton had fled to this city after

Another Note Recommended By Ministers

(By United Press)

PARIS, April 16.—Ministers of five powers, including the United States, met in Peking today and agreed that the Nationalist reply to the powers' protest against last month's Nanking disorders was insufficient and constituted a "veiled threat," the foreign office announced today.

The ministers, representing Great Britain, France, Japan, Italy and the United States reported their opinions to their governments, the announcement said, and recommended that the powers send another note demanding satisfaction from the Nationalists.

Conferences between representatives of the powers, the announcement said, will start immediately to determine the advisability of sending an ultimatum and what penalties should be exacted in the event an ultimatum were sent.

The ministers, the announcement said, have informed their respective governments that the Nationalist reply, sent by Foreign Minister Eugene Chen, was not acceptable and that it manifestly was a dilatory maneuver designed to divide the powers.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—A somewhat extensive period of study will precede any new steps of the U. S. government affecting China, state department officials indicated today.

Advices are eagerly awaited here concerning the reported conference of U. S. Minister MacMurray with other diplomats at Peking on Nationalist replies to the Nanking affair notes.

Officials here are understood to be especially interested in the extent and nature of differences in notes sent by Minister Chen to the United States and other powers. Information required here may be several days in delivery. Meanwhile, Secretary of State Kellogg is away from Washington over the week end for Easter vacation.

Before the situation is thoroughly reviewed, authorities discountenanced any official speculation concerning any future action by the United States.

SAY CHAPLIN MAY ANSWER WIFE SUIT

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—Although the report was denied by his counsel, it was intimated here today that Charlie Chaplin would return to Los Angeles and file answer to his wife's sensational divorce complaint. Such a move was anticipated following a reprieve granted late yesterday and extending the time for filing answer from Monday until next Thursday.

The extension of time was granted by Superior Judge Walter Guerin following telephonic requests from Chaplin's counsel, who are reported to be holding conferences in San Francisco relative to the next move in the case. Unless Chaplin files answer by Thursday he will lose the suit to Lita Grey Chaplin by default.

HUNDREDS ARE DRIVEN FROM HOMES WHEN MISSISSIPPI LEVEE BREAKS IN ARKANSAS

Here is one of the first pictures of the widespread destruction and suffering caused by breaking of the Mississippi levee in Arkansas. Large areas are inundated by flood waters and hundreds have been driven from their homes. Arrow points to house with water up to the roof. This picture was telephotoed from St. Louis.

EARL CARROLL IS CONSCIOUS AT INTERVALS

Physicians Declare Marked Improvement Noted in Condition

(By United Press)

GREENVILLE, S. C., April 16.—Earl Carroll's condition was virtually unchanged today, although attending physicians noted some improvement in his color.

"Earl Carroll has shown more marked improvement in the last 24 hours than in the previous period," said a bulletin issued at 11 a. m., by Doctors C. O. Bates and R. C. Bruce. "He has taken considerable nourishment and his pulse and temperature are normal."

The theatrical producer was conscious only at intervals, after which he would lapse immediately into a comatose state.

James, his brother, and two nurses remained in Carroll's bedroom throughout the night in case of emergency, but there was no sign of any radical change.

Carroll fell into his deep, unnatural sleep last Wednesday while enroute to Atlanta federal penitentiary, where he must serve a year and a day for perjury. The charge resulted from investigation of his statements concerning the New York bath tub party, at which he was host.

Carroll's wife, who came here from New York to be at his bedside, was herself lying ill with a temperature of 99, but resting comfortably, according to hospital attendants.

Victims Perish in Beds, Unable to Escape from Falling Walls

(By United Press)

CHICAGO, April 16.—The explosion of a moonshiner's still was believed by police to have been responsible for a blast on the west side which took the lives of eight persons today.

The dead:

Harry Sokolsky, a storekeeper; his wife, Mrs. Sokolsky; their two children, Anna, 15, and Samuel, 14; Barnett Levin, a tailor; his wife, and their two sons, Albert, 20, and Leonard, 13.

The victims perished as they lay in bed, unable to escape the deluge of falling debris which followed the collapse of the walls after the blast.

Members of the two families lived in the back of their shops in the one-story building destroyed by the explosion.

Mayme Sokolsky, 17, orphaned by the tragedy, owes her life to an invitation to spend the night with friends. After police had searched the debris for two hours they learned she was safe.

Police are seeking the owner of the grocery store in the black for questioning. He is alleged to be a known bootlegger and the theory was advanced that he operated his own still.

Four stores were wrecked by the blast and buildings for many blocks around were shaken.

Police and firemen entered the debris almost immediately, facing the danger of added explosions, and in a few minutes had brought out the eight bodies.

HINT INVOLVING OF SOLONS IN KILLING PROBE

Coroner Continues Investigation of Slaying And Suicide

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, April 16.—Hints of mysterious details involving prominent members of the California legislature in connection with the murder of pretty Marybelle Wallace, senate journal clerk, and the suicide of Harry J. Hill, Los Angeles politician, Thursday, were heard today as Coroner James A. Garlick pursued his investigation of the case.

That the tragedy was caused by a sudden fit of insane jealousy is accepted as the motive of the crime, but the factors bringing it to a climax are receiving close attention of authorities.

Attempts were being made today to squelch the liquor investigation proposed by Assemblyman T. M. Wright, of San Jose, as a result of the tragedy. Wright, who is on an investigation trip to Owens Valley, declared before leaving that he wanted to "confer with other persons" before introducing the proposed resolution.

The letter which Hill left to the coroner, explaining his deed, also contained a bitter indictment of several legislators, according to county officials. The names of these persons were withheld by Coroner Garlick.

"Please give this matter the fullest investigation," was one of the pleas made by Hill in his letter to the coroner.

The body of Miss Wallace is in the city morgue, where it was taken in charge by her brother, Angus Wallace, of Hollywood, who arrived this morning. The body of Hill is being held pending the arrival of Charles Traclough, of Los Angeles, a friend of the dead man.

Monday evening has been set for the coroner's inquest.

Killer Barricades Himself In House

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., April 16.—County officers at Newport, Jackson county, telephoned police headquarters here today that a crazed man had killed a family of four persons near there this afternoon and had barricaded himself in a house.

Officers who tried to arrest the insane killer, were repelled by high waters. Tear gas bombs were sent to Newport.

STANFORD, RAH RAH! BEARS, BOOM AH! JAIL? HURRAH!!

(By United Press)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—Can University of California students outsing those of Stanford?

The issue came up in Police Judge Golden's court today, when four students from each school appeared following their arrest on charges of disturbing the peace and being intoxicated in a Sutter street cafe shortafter midnight.

The arrests followed complaint of the management, which declared the competitive students tried to outsing each other in the cafe for more than an hour.

The men gave names of James Baker, Edward Newton, Edwin Johnson and Herbert Howe, of Stanford, and William Carrington, Brainard Phorn, Alfred White and Joseph Dale, of California.

The students explained they merely were getting their voices in trim to cheer at the Stanford-California track meet today.

An additional charge of parking overtime was lodged against one of the men, when he was forced to leave his machine on the street all night when he was taken to jail.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER TOWNS FACE DESTRUCTION WHEN LEVEE BEGINS CRUMBLING

Mounds, Ill., and Judsonia and Dorena, Ark., Deluged; Hickman, Ky., Also Threatened

ARMY STARTS RELIEF WORK

(By United Press)

BATTERED by the highest flood waters since 1921, the Mississippi river levee gave way in several places today. Collapse of the only barrier between security and destruction faced river towns from St. Louis to New Orleans.

Even where the giant dyke held, farms and cities were suffering from flood water, continuous rain and a sea of mud.

Breaks occurred at Mounds, Ill., Judsonia, Ark., and Dorena, Ark. Warnings of danger saved lives and some property in these instances.

Water 10 to 15 feet deep flooded approximately 100,000 acres in the vicinity of the Dorena break. Hickman, Ky., across the river from Dorena, is threatened with a similar fate. Relief work is under way. The town of Mounds, a city of more than 2500, is completely inundated, according to dispatches from Marion, Ill.

Water four feet deep covers Judsonia and more than 2,000,000 acres are under water in the region. The levee in this town broke after desperate all night efforts to save it.

Two farmers were reported to have drowned in the flood waters. A search was on for the body of Roy Johnson, 32, who fell into a creek when the mule he was riding stepped off an inundated bridge. George Ing, 28, Binocord, Tenn., was reported to have died in the backwaters of the Mississippi river near Dyersburg, Tenn.

MOUNDS, ILL., IS FLOODED AFTER BREAK

MARION, Ill. ,April 16.—A break in the Mississippi river levee today flooded Mounds, Ill., with four feet of water, which was rapidly rising, officials of the Central Illinois Power company here were notified today.

The company's power plant at Mounds was disabled.

The levee break, according to the message received here, occurred early this morning, a large section crumbling under the pressure of high waters which rushed over the city.

Mounds is a city of 2661 inhabitants. It is only eight miles from Cairo, Ill., and the flood will encounter the levee which protects Cairo from the rear.

Cairo is surrounded by a protecting wall, however, and is believed safe from serious flood damage.

HORROR AND DESOLATION RIDES ON RIVER CREST

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 16.—Horror and desolation riding upon the crest of an unprecedented rise in the Mississippi river swept over half of Arkansas today and spread out to engulf sections of Mississippi, Missouri and Tennessee.

Snapping like a match stick, the levee at Judsonia, Ark., went out today despite the labor of hundreds of men, augmented by women.

The water is four feet deep in Judsonia streets and hundreds of the inhabitants from the surrounding lowlands are fleeing before the torrent.

With 2,000,000 acres under water, and six counties asking for more than 1000 additional tents, the Arkansas National Guard is running out of tents.

A plea has been sent by Governor Martineau to the adjutant general in Washington, soliciting more tents.

More than $250,000 damage occurred at Branson, Mo., and Hollister, Mo., when flood waters of the White river left their banks and swept down into the fields.

ARMY AID ORDERED BY WAR DEPARTMENT

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Army aid for flood sufferers in Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and Missouri, was ordered by the war department today, following emergency appeals for relief of varying character from those states.

The department is utilizing every agency to extend flood relief, an official statement announced.

Col Charles L. Potter, district engineer at St. Louis, has informed the chief of engineers of the seriousness of flood prospects and states that his organization is in excellent shape to handle any situation.

Upon request of Red Cross headquarters here, the commander of the fourth corps area has been directed to furnish 500 additional tents at Natchez, Miss., and to expedite action for necessary relief. Supplies are made available

Store Loses $26,000 In Second Holdup

PORTLAND, Ore., April 16.—Shotgun squads guarded Portland bank messengers today, while police searched vainly for four men who staged a daring street holdup late Friday and escaped with $26,000 belonging to the Olds Wortman and King department store. The robbery brings this week's theft loss for the Olds Wortman and King store up to $46,000. Last Sunday a group of burglars rifled the store safe of $20,000.

GOVERNOR WINS EVERY BATTLE IN LEGISLATURE

Recommendations of Young Are Accepted Without Question

(By United Press)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 16.—Victorious in every contested measure on the executive program, Governor Young's administration has hung up a batting average of just 1.000 in the legislative session thus far.

The legislature has accepted without question the recommendations of the governor, even those proposing the most sweeping changes in the state's taxation system and departmental organization. Such co-operation between the legislative and executive arms of the state augurs well for the coming years, according to political observers at the capitol.

"We have given Governor Young everything he asked for" said one member of the legislature today. "If the changes he has made prove successful, he is assured of a second term in office."

Despite opposition from Senator J. M. Inman, of Sacramento, one of the governor's closest friends and an administration leader in the upper house, the bill increasing the gasoline tax to three cents a gallon was adopted by the senate.

Go To Assembly

This measure, and a companion bill allocating the highway funds on a '50-50" basis between northern and Southern California, went to the assembly today, there to be adopted next week.

Virtually all of the governor's reorganization bills have been rushed through and are before him for signature. Some, calling for expenditure of state funds, were held up by the budget, but will be given right of war next week.

Leading among the bills alrady signed by the governor in his "state cabinet" of nine department heads, approved this week.

Only a few of the big issues confronting the state remain on the calendar and most of these have been adopted by one of the two houses, virtually assuring passage through the other. These include the gas tax and highway bills, reapportionment, the constitutional amendment setting up a doctrine of beneficial use and state ownership of surplus water and the remainder of the criminal code revision program.

California motorists will be allowed to "step on the gas" just a bit more if a senate bill now before the assembly becomes a state law.

The breed measure amending the old motor vehicle act contains more than 40 amendments, most important of which is the provision raising the maximum speed limit on the highways from 35 to 40 miles per hour.

ANOTHER DROP IN GASOLINE IS ANNOUNCED

Gasoline took another drop in Santa Ana this morning.

A decline of two cents a gallon brought the retail price of motor fuel to 12 1-2 cents at practically every station in the city.

The gasoline war, which has been raging for the last month, was renewed late yesterday afternoon when the Pan-American Petroleum company cut its price two cents.

The Standard Oil company met the reduction early this morning when it instructed dealers situated near the Pan-American stations to cut. Later the cut was made general at all stations.

Richfield fell into line next and then the General and Shell. Late this morning the Union Oil company had not met the reduction.

Officials of the various oil companies term the cut made by the Pan-American company as "ridiculous" but met the drop in order to compete.

Just how long the war is to continue and how far gasoline will drop none of the local gas officials would venture a guess today. They all declare, however, that the present price of motor fuel is such that it cannot be produced and sold at a profit.

FRIENDS OFFER LAST TRIBUTE TO NORTHCROSS

Though Robert Northcross trod his pathway of life quietly, after his own gentle, unassuming fashion, he did not escape, at the last, a public tribute to his worth.

It came today at his funeral, the outpouring of a universal affection for his character and personality, of a profound respect for his honorable career.

Homage was paid where it had never been sought. The years of unselfish service in war and peace given by the county's late forester today received their meed of recognition from the hearts and hands of his fellow citizens.

The funeral service, held at 10 a. m. in the Church of The Messiah, Protestant Episcopal, was brief but it held much of beauty. Not only the flowers were beautiful as they spread over the casket and banked along the chancel rail in gorgeous profusion. This floral array expressed a beauty of sentiment not to be denied. There was beauty too, and comfort, in the inspiring burial service read by the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, rector of the church. But deeper, perhaps, was the beauty of that bond between Robert Northcross and his fellows that brought them to the church this morning with grief stamped upon their faces.

There was an official as well as military touch to the funeral. It was the third time within recent months that the county has mourned a member of its official family. Also, it was the funeral of a soldier. Veterans of the Spanish-American war, many of whom had served with Robert Northcross in '98, attended in a body.

In his last sleep, he lay beneath the folds of the colors he had defended. The flag of old Company L, Seventh regiment, N. G. C. was draped across the casket. This flag, which accompanied Company L to San Francisco in 1898, has since been in possession of Col. S. H. Finley, of Santa Ana, who commanded Company L at that time.

Col. Finley, now a prominent county official, and H. C. Head, well known attorney were honorary pall bearers today. Other prominent men of the community served as bearers. They were as follows: W. B. Williams, Ernest C. Phillips, Willard Smith, Nat H. Neff, Arthur Hausauer and T. E. Stephenson.

Meeting the casket at the entrance to the nave, the rector preceded it to the chancel rail, reciting prayers. Following the ritual of the Episcopal burial service, selections from the psalms were read, after which came the reading of the scripture lesson, taken from the fifteenth chapter of the first Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians. The creed was recited by rector and congregation, after which came more prayers, including the Lord's Prayer, and the service was over.

A squad of uniformed motor-police guarded the funeral procession on its journey to Fairhaven cemetery, where interment was made. At the grave the service was the usual Episcopal rite, brief but again beautiful and most impressive in its ending, with the sounding of "taps" by a lone bugler.

RIVER CITIES INUNDATED AS LEVEE BREAKS

from the New Orleans depot.

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, telegraphed for relief from ominous conditions in the vicinity of Memphis. The department directed the commander of the fourth corps area to send the nearest available officers to represent the army at Memphis and his authorized use of any facilities and supplies in his area.

Red Cross Given Tents

The department has approved action of Col. Moore Falls, commander of Jefferson barracks, Mo., in furnishing 136 tents to Red Cross authorities at St. Louis. The commanding general of the seventh corps area is under orders to be ready to meet further requests.

Brig. Gen. LeRoy Eltinge, commanding at Fort Clark, Texas, reported troops are assisting local relief committees at tornado-torn Rock Springs, Texas. Eltinge does not consider additional troops necessary.

Following an all-night session of Red Cross officials here, orders were sent for chapters in every county in the 600-mile long Mississippi flood stretch to handle relief on an emergency basis until plans for permanent rehabilitation of victims could be made.

FIVE TIMES NORMAL FLOW IN MISSISSIPPI

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 16.—The Ohio and upper Mississippi river together are pouring 1,800,000 cubic feet of water a second into the lower Mississippi, five times the normal flow, the U. S. engineering department here announced today.

Simultaneous flow from the two streams is responsible for the unprecedented water levels south of Cairo, Ill., and for the millions of dollars damage being done throughout the lower Mississippi valley. Previously the two principal tributaries have been swollen at different times.

According to engineers, the Ohio feeds 1,000,000 cubic feet a second at its mouth today and the upper Mississippi 800,000 cubic feet.

The crest of the Mississippi flood is traveling at a rate of 35 miles a day and is due here tomorrow. This condition presages continuous rise in the waters south of here and even more critical conditions in territory bordering the lower section of the Mississippi.

ADDITIONAL RAINS "NOT AT ALL IMPROBABLE"

WASHINGTON, April 16. — Holding additional rains "not at all improbable," the weather bureau today warned towns along the Mississippi river from Cairo, Ill., to the Gulf of Mexico to prepare for flood crests at least one foot greater than any in the past.

Additional rains during the last two days over Mississippi, Arkansas, western Kentucky and Tennessee and northern and western Louisiana "can only intensify existing conditions," the weather bureau said.

LEVEE BREAKS IN WOLF LAKE DISTRICT

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., April 16. —The Mississippi river levee broke in four parts in the Wolf lake district near here today, flooding 32 miles of river bottoms from the south levee of the Big Muddy river south to Gale, in the northern part of Alexander county.

More than 100,000 acres of land were affected by the three breaks.

The first occurred at the Levase farm, where 50 feet of the 10-foot levee gave way. The second was at the Kimmel farm, where 30 feet of the wall was washed out. Another section, 30 feet long, broke out between the two points. The last section to break was a 20-foot stretch at Big Barn, west of Wolf lake. The situation further south probably will be relieved somewhat by these breaks.

The Brunswick landing levee in West Jackson county, where 300 men worked to keep the wall together, still was intact this afternoon. The Big Muddy river rose a foot last night.

Hurts from Fall May Cause Death

VISALIA, Calif., April 16.—The condition of Frank Polkhart, 69, rancher, who was discovered late yesterday in an unconscious state west of Visalia and brought to the county hospital here, was little changed today, according to report from the hospital. From meager information that Polkhart was able to give hospital authorities, he became ill and, attempting to reach a deserted house on the Tagus ranch, north of Tulare, to pass the night had fallen over an embankment.

LOS ALAMITOS PROTESTS NEW MAIL DELIVERY

Protesting vigorously against what they termed a "grab policy" that would seriously cripple and virtually absorb their own post office, Los Alamitos residents today telegraphed postal officials in Washington, D. C., and requested that there be a suspension of the extension into Los Alamitos territory of rural mail delivery service from Long Beach.

The service was scheduled to begin today.

Los Alamitos boosters assert that the new Long Beach rural route is one of eight miles along deserted roads and serves only four houses on its way into Orange county.

Will Cause Changes

In the vicinity of Los Alamitos, however, many will be delivered mail, a condition that not only will be detrimental to the local post office, but cause 100 families to change their address from Los Alamitos to Long Beach, the petitioners declare.

"We do not want our thriving community to become a hick town all for the glory of giving Long Beach another mail route," R. P. Green, of the Rush P. Green company, one of the protestants, asserted.

The telegram dispatched to Washington was signed by Green, the Los Alamitos Sugar company, by E. L. Johns, secretary-treasurer; the Los Alamitos chamber of commerce, and the Los Alamitos water works, by Jennie V. Bloomquist.

The message, addressed to the fourth assistant postmaster general, follows:

"As the proposed rural free delivery route, effective April 16, No. 3, from Long Beach, Los Angeles county, to Los Alamitos, Orange county, a distance of about 12 miles one way, will practically absorb more than half the revenue of the Los Alamitos post office, causing 100 families in the town of Los Alamitos, at present being satisfactorily served by that post office, to change their address from Los Alamitos, Orange county, to Long Beach, Los Angeles county, and as the route to be traveled by the Long Beach carrier, to encroach on this business in a platted townsite, is along practically deserted roads, once outside the Long Beach city limits, we respectfully ask that you kindly suspend operation of said route, pending investigation."

Man Sold Youths Liquor In Syrup Bottles, Claim

Charged with possession of intoxicating liquor, P. F. Hickey, 40, well known Balboa billard hall proprietor, was released on $1000 cash bail today when he was taken before Recorder W. A. Leonard, at Newport Beach.

According to Newport officers, Hickey is believed to have furnished liquor to a number of school boys, selling his wares in the form of a cough syrup, in a bottle on which appeared the picture of George Washington. The selling price was $1.10 a bottle, officers claimed.

That Hickey may be turned over to federal officers on a charge of violating the California pure food laws, was intimated by officers.

Hickey was arrested by Officers Ora Mitchell, Virgil Swartz and Frank Truman.

Chicksan Well at Atwood Comes In As Giant Gasser

The well of the Chicksan Oil company, known as Herndon No. 1, on the Robertson lease, between Atwood and Olinda, came in as a gigantic gasser, this morning, according to word from the northern Orange county oil field.

It was estimated that the gas was flowing at a rate of between 5,000,000 and 6,000,000 feet a day. Oil was said to be mixed with the gas but officials did not estimate the amount of "black gold" the well is expected to yield when the gas is capped.

There are only two other wells in the neighborhood of Herndon No. 1, it was said.

NEW TRUSTEE FINED $2 IN POLICE COURT

Being police commissioner of Santa Ana has its ins and outs in the opinion of W. J. (Bill) Kelly, 1119 West Fourth street, who was elected Monday by virtue of four votes over his opponent, George McPhee.

Kelly came to this conclusion yesterday when he was arrested for parking his machine in a restricted district and was fined $2 in police court, by Judge John F. Talbott, who was also elected last Monday.

Kelly parked his machine in front of a theater and was gone but three minutes. When he returned the tag was hanging on the steering wheel. "Whee, this is a fast police force," he said, and then remembered that he was the new head of the organization. Rushing down to police court he paid his fine willingly, rather proud of the fact that he was in charge of an organization that worked with such speed.

Today, Kelly thinks maybe the tagging of his car was a frameup. "It's hard to believe that any police force could respond so quickly," he said.

ANTICIPATE LARGE DINNER GATHERING

With reservations pouring into the offices of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., a capacity attendance is predicted for next Thursday night's dinner meeting at which Harry D. Anderson, Y. M. C. A. worker, recently expelled from Russia, will be the principal speaker.

Anderson, who is well known in California Y. M. C. A. circles, will tell of his impressions of the bolshevik state and of his own experiences as a worker there. He also will tell of the events that led up to his deportation.

The dinner meeting is open to the general public, and reservations should be made at once at the Y. M. C. A. office, it was announced by Secretary R. C. Smedley.

SKULL UNEARTHED BY STREET GRADERS

Street employes working under the direction of Caleb Rash, today dug up a human skull, on Bristol street near Seventeenth street.

The skull probably is that of an Indian, and had been buried for 100 years or more, according to Sid Smithwick, assistant city marshal.

The skull was taken to police station where it is on exhibition. Street employes were grading the street when they made the discovery.

Summer Tourists Travel By Water

Summer tourists between California and points in the northwest will have the benefit of a novel transportation departure this season through announcement of optional ticket exchange arrangement entered into by the Pacific Steamship company and the Southern Pacific railroad, Francis Westgate, Santa Ana agent for the steamship company, announced.

For the first time in Pacific coast transportation, season excursion tickets which call for the trip both ways by either rail or water will be honored one way by the other company co-operating, Westgate said. This means that summer tourists may travel one way by water and one way by train, or vice versa, for the same low fare round trip.

The arrangement will be effective from April 29 to October 2, the agent said.

'Col.' Sleeper Is Again Grandfather

Well, it's Grandpa Sleeper again now, when referring to "Col." Jim Sleeper, Orange county assessor.

Both the mother and son are "doin' fine," it was said.

The latest son gives "Col." Sleeper three grandchildren, two grandsons and one granddaughter.

CURRENT KILLS POWER EXPERT AT FULLERTON

John Krider, 40, chief electrician at the Fullerton union high school, was killed at 11:10 a. m., today, when he was electrocuted while working on a ladder in the boiler room of the school building.

Death was instantaneous, Krider's wrist coming in contact with the terminal on an electric switchboard. His body was found hanging on the ladder a few minutes later by E. A. Ames, head of the manual training department of the high school.

Rescue squads of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company and the Southern California Edison company worked over his body for more than two hours, but were unable to revive him. Barry McPhee, Santa Ana, was in charge of the rescue work.

The charged wire which came in contact with Krider's body carried 2200 volts of electricity, according to a statement made by A. H. Gale, assistant electrician.

Krider resided on Placentia avenue, near Orangethorpe avenue. He leaves a widow and a four-year-old son. A. F. Redfern, vice principal of the Fullerton union high school, was a brother-in-law.

No time has been set for the inquest.

A WORD OF COMFOR
It would be bribery to promise that life will be easier for your fellows, if they will believe in God. Faith does not make life easy, but it makes it worth while. It brings the assurance that your endeavors and endurance are not wasted and futile. It gives zest to the struggle to be a man, when the burdens are heavy. It brings the blessed sense of understanding companionship in every trial.

Lighthouse Is Bright Feature Of Tire Window

A flashing lighthouse is one of the features of the display appearing this week in the window of the Platt Auto Service, local Goodrich Silvertown dealer. This feature has attracted much attention, for a miniature light in the tower flashes on and off at regular intervals characteristic of the real thing.

This display is a regular part of the Goodrich advertising program and is appearing simultaneously in thousands of Goodrich dealers' windows throughout the country.

The background to the window is a colorful beach scene on which is shown a broad thoroughfare lined with automobiles. The foreground represents a section of rock-bound coast against which the surf lashes in fury. The lighthouse, of lithographed cardboard made to look like stucco-covered rocks, rises out of the rugged coast scene, which is supported on either side by Silvertown balloon tires.

DR. SPAETH TO SPEAK AT H. S. EARLY IN MAY

Dr. Sigmund Spaeth, internationally known music authority, lecturer and critic, will be one of the speakers in Santa Ana during the celebration here of National Music Week, May 1 to 7, it was announced at the meeting Friday of the committee in charge of arrangements for the week's program.

Dr. Spaeth, who was induced to accept the Santa Ana invitation by Milton Foster, of the Foster-Barker Music company, is widely known in the east as a writer of musical subjects for the Boston Transcript, the New York Times and the New York Evening Mail.

Concerning Dr. Spaeth, Foster said:

"Dr. Spaeth is unique in that he never fails to interest his audience, however catholic its composition. His sense of humor and wide knowledge of human nature assist him in discovering at once a bond of mutual interest, and he succeeds in holding the attention of his hearers, whether music teachers or business men, school children or club women. Before musical clubs, conservatories, service clubs and chambers of commerce, Dr. Spaeth has exerted a tremendous influence for the appreciation of good music, fighting against hypocricy of all kinds and linking his observations with a versatile knowledge of the related arts. His topic at the high school auditorium Tuesday evening of music week will be "Music As a Civic Asset."

The complete program for the week was approved by the committee yesterday. All of the programs are to be given at the high school auditorium and no admission will be charged nor a collection taken. Harry Hanson, chairman of the committee, and D. C. Cianfoni, in charge of the program arrangements, said a further announcement concerning the plans for the week would be made within the next few days.

MAIL CARRIER IS HURT IN ACCIDENT

Edward Mackey, 40, mail carrier, was injured at 9:30 a. m., today, when the bicycle he was riding collided with an automobile at the intersection of Parton and Edinger streets.

Mackey was dragged for several feet by the car, according to reports that reached the post office. He suffered severe cuts and bruises and complained of injury to his hip. The name of the driver of the machine was not learned.

The accident is said to have occurred when Mackey attempted to dodge several dogs, playing in the street.

The mail he carried was brought to the postoffice by E. Rohrs, an employe of the Standard Oil company.

LAD UNINJURED AS BICYCLE WRECKED

$280,000 ESTATE CASE IS SETTLED BY COMPROMISE ON EVE OF HEATED COURT FIGHT

A stipulated judgment on file today in superior court, concluding litigation between the heirs of the late Leonard O. Vaughn, of Santa Ana, who left a $280,000 estate, is said to represent a compromise between the widow, Mrs. Grace B. Vaughn, and Vaughn's children, by a prior marriage.

The controversy arose when the widow was cut off in Vaughn's will with a legacy of $1000. The will explained that the legacy was made so small because of Mrs. Vaughn's "actions" while at Alder Lodge, and on a hunting trip to the Jackson Hole country, in Wyoming.

In the compromise judgment just filed by Superior Judge James L. Allen, Mrs. Vaughn receives seven acres of land on North Main street, north of the Santa Ana city limits, estimated to be worth $35,000.

The same judgment qualifies a legacy left to one of Vaughn's daughters, Mrs. Gertrude F. Wagner, of Orange, who was willed $1000 and 6.80 acres of North Main street ranch property, valued at $25,000. The judgment stipulates that Mrs. Wagner shall retain the legacy left her but shall give her note for $6000.

The bulk of the Vaughn estate was left to his grandchildren, in trust with a son-in-law, Charles E. Wagner, of Orange, until the beneficiaries reach the age of 30. Seven grandchildren thus share equally in property estimated to be worth about $200,000. The bulk of this is comprised of property in the vicinity of Third and Bush streets, Santa Ana, including the Temple theater, on that corner. The grand children are: Harold Vaughn, 22, and Herndon Vaughn, 20, sons of Charles H. Vaughn, Los Angeles; Howard Wagner, 19, son of Gertrude F. Wagner, Orange; Russell Vaughn, 7, Beryl Vaughn, 5, and Jean L. Vaughn, 2, children of Russell Vaughn, Hermosa Beach; Gertrude Vaughn, 8, daughter of Howard S. Vaughn, Santa Ana. Mrs. Edna Daniels, daughter of the deceased, has no children.

The will leaves $1000 to each of the five sons and daughters of Leonard Vaughn, besides leaving the North Main street property to Mrs. Wagner. Mrs. Francis Lightle, a niece living at 1462 American avenue, Long Beach, is bequeathed property interests there worth $10,000. Her mother, Mrs. Rosamond Lightle, 428 Daisy street, Long Beach, a sister of the deceased, was willed $1000.

The Vaughn will was probated by former Judge R. Y. Williams in January, 1926. D. N. Kelly, of Santa Ana, executor of the will, was the petitioner for probate.

Shortly thereafter, Mrs. Vaughn filed her contest petition, demanding that probate of the will be revoked. She denied the inference of infidelity contained in her husband's will and blamed her stepdaughter, Mrs. Wagner, for poisoning Vaughn's mind against her. He was mentally incompetent and under his daughter's influence at the time the will was made, Mrs. Vaughn declared.

Mrs. Vaughn petitioned, also, for a family allowance of $300 per month and, when the matter came before Judge E. J. Marks for hearing, she was allowed $200 per month. Subsequently she petitioned to have a portion of the North Main street property, and furniture, set apart as a homestead. In this proceeding, she obtained 2.63 acres of the 7 acres finally awarded to her in the judgment now on file.

When the contest over her petition to revoke probate for the will came up for hearing this week in Judge Allen's court, ten days had been set aside for the vigorous legal battle that was in prospect. The compromise obviated airing of the dispute, however.

Executor Kelly was represented in the case by Attorneys Scarborough, Forgy and Reinhaus. Charles D. Swanner was counsel for Mrs. Vaughn. Clyde Bishop appeared as attorney for Mrs. Wagner. H. C. Head and George K. Scovel, of Head, Rutan and Scovel, represented Harold D. Vaughn, one of the grandchildren, who of the seven chief heirs was the only one of legal age. A. W. Rutan, as guardian of the minor grandchildren, represented their interests.

Matthew Arnold's will, consisting of 15 words, was the shortest written by any prominent author.

SCOUTS MAKING PLANS TO HOLD BIG JAMBOREE

The busiest boys in Orange county these days are the thousand or more scouts who are getting ready for their big party at the Orange County Fair grounds on the evening of April 29.

These scouts have two purposes in mind, one to sell every individual in the county a ticket to the Jamboree and another to practice their various stunts so they can put on one of the best shows ever presented in the county.

Troops are vieing with each other on the ticket sale because the Jamboree committee in charge of Ted Craig has offered to the troop selling the largest number of tickets a trip to the petrified forest in the Mojave desert. Another prize offered by the Jamboree committee is a period at RoKiLi to the scout in each district who sells the largest number of tickets. Scouts expect to sell not less than 5000 tickets. The proceeds of the Jamboree will go toward the purchase of a new truck, which the county organization is badly in need of.

The Jamboree will be opened with a parade led by Lieutenant Governor Buron Fitts following which a series of 30 spectacular scout exhibitions and demonstrations, including the building of signaling towers, bridges, friction fire, first aid, life saving and many other scout demonstrations will be shown.

More than 30 side attractions will be presented by the sponsoring organizations of the scouts immediately after the demonstration has been completed.

The leadership of the Jamboree each year is taken by the 40-8 as its contribution to the boyhood of Orange county.

FILES SUIT TO HOLD UP MONEY FOR PAVEMENT

The filing of an injunction suit by W. E. Chilson, of Santa Ana, against County Auditor W. C. Jerome, to prevent payment of $10,000 of county funds to the city of Santa Ana for new paving on South Main street, was today expected to bring a desired court decision on the question whether the county supervisors, voting 3 to 2 in favor of the $10,000 appropriation, approved or rejected it.

Chilson, as a taxpayer, sued Jerome, as county auditor, alleging that Jerome threatens to pay the $10,000 to the city, and that there is no legal authority for such payment. The resolution of the board of supervisors on the matter is void, because it is contrary to law, Chilson's petition declares. The statute, he contends, requires a four-fifths vote of the board to authorize transfer of county funds to an incorporated city.

Chilson's attitude is that taken by Chairman William Schumacher and Supervisor John C. Mitchell, who voted against the appropriation when the matter came before the board several weeks ago. They contend that the section of the general laws of the state applying to transfer of county funds to a city control the case in question. Jerome and the supervisors who are aligned with him on the question, believe that a simple majority of the board is sufficient to authorize the transfer, inasmuch as the request for the appropriation came from the city and was not initiated by the board of supervisors. In the latter instance, Jerome believes, a four-fifths vote would be necessary, but where the city has requested the appropriation, only a majority vote is required.

These two interpretations of the law will be tested in the injunction case just filed, it is expected. Chilson's suit was filed through Attorney Franklin G. West, of Santa Ana.

MARMON TRAVELS 250,000 MILES

A Marmon car that has traveled upwards of 230,000 miles, and which according to its owner, is "ready for any kind of a trip," is the latest addition to the long list of Marmon automobiles that have records around the 200,000 mark.

The Marmon car in question is owned by P. C. Dick of Keego Harbor, Mich., and was manufactured in 1916. Its mileage record is all the more remarkable since no replacements of any kind have been made by its owner with the exception of new pistons, which were installed after the car had run 165,000 miles.

C. F. Hammett, Marmon sales representative in this city, considers the unusually long life of Marmon cars a well deserved tribute to Marmon's precise methods of manufacture, rigidly adhered to for more than a quarter of a century.

POSITION OF P.-T. A. IS PURELY NEUTRAL

During the past election activities, as city president of the Parent-Teachers organization, I endeavored consistently to maintain the position which we, as an organized body, are required to take; e. g. that no sectarian nor political platforms shall be supported by us officially. Any member is privileged to act as a private citizen to any degree he wishes, but the organization as such must be absolutely free.

Such a position of neutrality is necessarily difficult to preserve, particularly when the issue is local, and feeling is high. Nevertheless I have endeavored to act consistently at all times when representing my official body.

Owing to the fact that a certain list of candidates was credited by the opposition with being the "P.-T. A." ballot, and to the fact that prominent members of the organization were active in their private capacity, as they were perfectly entitled to do, I was asked as president of the organization, to state our attitude as to the result of the election. In doing so I took full cognizance of the fact that our avowed purpose as an organization is to further harmony and understanding with our public school authorities, and my remarks were designed to reflect this position. No fair minded person will ask another to attempt to balance personal and official views sufficiently to be acceptable to all. As a private citizen, my views are worth no more than another's. As the representative of 2000 local members, my official views are strictly impersonal and in accordance with our principles.

Mrs. Fay R. Spangler.

ATTRACTIONS AT LOCAL THEATERS

Joan Crawford in a scene from "The Taxi Dancer," picture opening at the West Coast-Walker theater Sunday.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

A variant of the age-old conflict between love and duty, treated in a modern manner, is the theme of "Remember," a picture that opened last night at the Yost Broadway theater.

In this instance a nurse, hoping to assist in the happiness of her frivolous younger sister and the man the flapper has chosen in a spirit of wanton conquest, stifles her cherished romance and greets their engagement.

It is on the eve of Jimmy Cardigan's departure for France to fight in his country's cause. With his absence Constance seeks other swains. She does not design to answer Jimmy's anxious, fervent letters; she flouts him by eloping with rich Billy Kent.

Ruth views the wreck of her sacrifice with poignant grief. To assuage the pain the revelation must cause Jimmy, she resorts to deception and writes him a letter in Constance's name. She vows she will always remember their troth.

Jimmy gets the letter after he has been gassed and blinded in a raid in the Argonne. It helps to comfort him in his affliction. Returning to American he seeks out Constance. Caught in a mesh of fatal circumstances, Ruth has to follow her deception through. She marries Jimmy, representing herself as Constance. She justifies herself in the thought that he needs her in his helplessness. And then Jimmy recovers his sight, and there is a startling denouement.

Adolphe Menjou and Lya de Putti in a scene from "Sorrows of Satan," picture beginning week's engagement at the Yost theater Sunday.

YOST THEATER

Nobody can deny that D. W. Griffith, in "Sorrows of Satan," his latest picture, which comes to the Yost theater for a week beginning Sunday, has elicited remarkable performances from the quartette of principal players, and it probably will be conceded generally that his direction of the love scenes in an impoverished neighborhood and his work on those revealing fantastic orgies is masterful.

In swinging from squalor to pomp, depicting wretchedness on one side and passionate orgies on the other, Griffith reveals himself a master, and in this present offering he has made a photo-drama that excels anything he has done in recent years.

The producer draws his contrasts splendidly, revelry being depicted with its wanton and sordid tastes, and then the gentle love of Mavis for Tempest.

There are vistas in the scenes of reckless luxury that challenge the most discriminating eye. Bright lights glisten during some periods and then soft shadows drift across the beflowered halls. Women, dressed none too extensively, are beheld in a variety of poses.

Adolphe Menjou is remarkably fine as the Prince who enjoys the ruin of his victims. He is distinctive, almost gentle in setting forth his temptations. Carol Dempster's acting is something exceptional. She imbues the part with pathos and eagerness. She presents the portrait of undying hope, and not even in "Isn't Life Wonderful?" did she give an idea of the talent she displays in this new film. Lya de Putti depicts the siren with a sinuous ease, denoting by her half-closed eyes the nature of the Princess. Another remarkable characterization is that of Ricardo Cortez in the role of Tempest.

WEST COAST-WALKER

A fast moving story, replete with action, thrills and romance, is "The Silent Rider" which closes tonight at the West Coast-Walker theater.

The one and only Hoot Gibson is starred in "The Silent Rider" an adaptation from Katherine Newlin Burt's best seller "The Red Headed Husband," and is ably supported by a featured cast of players.

The picture starts with a young girl appearing at the Bar Z ranchhouse to assist in the feeding of a score of rough but good hearted cowboys. Hoot, as one of the cowpunchers is immediately smitten with the mysterious stranger, but is unable to fathom the mystery surrounding her past.

Hoot and a partner build a cabin near the Bar Z ranch where they take care of a little boy they found alone on the desert. Things start to happen fast when the father of the child claims his son and it is discovered that the mysterious girl is the wife and mother.

How it is eventually straightened out provides one of the most logical and entertaining endings to a picture imaginable.

Blanche Mehaffey, who is fast coming into her own as a picture luminary, plays the part of the girls.

In addition to this is Fanchon and Marco's "Specialties," featuring an unusually clever group of stage celebrities including the famous Uncle Tom character of the internationally known "Topsy and Eva" play, Virgil Johanson. Dot and Dash, two versatile young song and dance kiddies, stop the show with their clever numbers. Newton Hall, renowned child star of Booth Tarkington's "Penrod" fame held the audience that witnessed last night's performance spellbound with his character readings and popular songs. Another renowned artist on the bill B.B.B., well known through the country for his clever comedy skits and the unusual way in which he keeps the audience in a continuous uproar.

Bobby Wolf and his Play Boys furnish the musical bits of the program.

WEST COAST-WALKER

The Taxi Dancer is coming to town and she is no other than Joan Crawford!

Joan is conceded to be one of the two or three best dancers in the film colony, and it was on this account, as well as the fact that she has exhibited marked dramatic ability, that she was selected for the part of Joslyn Lee, the Southern belle who becomes a "taxi" in one of New York's dance palaces, in "The Taxi Dancer," the big picture that comes to the West Coast-Walker theater Sunday.

It is the kind of part that comes to a girl once in a lifetime, and Joan, realizing this, has done astonishing work in this Robert Terry Shannon story.

Opposite Miss Crawford is Owen Moore, and the cast also includes Marc MacDermott, Douglas Gilmore, Gertrude Astor, Rockliffe Fellowes, Bert Roach, Claire MacDowell, William Orlamond and Charles French.

On the stage will be "Ala Baba and the 39 Thieves," an elaborate Fanchon and Marco "Idea" featuring Pepito, world famous clown.

Pepito scores with his ventriloquism imitation, notably in a series of offerings slightly different from the usual.

Dancing is the main course on the menu. The pyramid girls and Harvey Karels take care of this matter as it should be, and gain a lot from flashing costumes. The whole thing is colorful and amusing.

YOST BROADWAY THEATER

Said to be one of the most unusual and thrilling photoplays produced in five years is "The Yankee Clipper," a sea picture featuring William Boyd, Elinor Fair, Walter Long and Junior Coghlan, which will be shown at the Yost Broadway theater for three days beginning Sunday. This is an absorbing dramatic story of the glorious days just before the Civil war when the American clipper ship reigned triumphant on the high seas.

The story deals with Hal Winslow, a young seaman whose father had invented the design of a fast sailing "V"-shaped clipper ship. The son sails the vessel to Foo Chow, China, in search of a cargo of tea. Here Winslow meets Huntington, a British ship captain who is in China on a similar mission. Huntington is accompanied by his beautiful daughter, Jocelyn, and one day Winslow rescues her from a band of beggars. She is engaged to a bounder named Richard, who proves himself both a coward and cad.

At a diner given by a Chinese merchant, it is agreed that both ships—"The Yankee Clipper," commanded by Winslow and "The Lord of the Isles," owned by Huntington-ton, shall carry cargoes of tea to Boston and that the vessel winning the race shall have the monopoly of the tea-carrying trade. On the day when the race begins, Jocelyn and her fiance Richard go aboard "The Yankee Clipper," to bid Winslow goodbye. Winslow decides to keep both aboard the vessel so that Jocelyn may learn the real character of Richard and be spared the disgrace of wedding a scoundrel.

During the voyage, Richard causes much trouble among the crew and he is finally exposed by Winslow as a coward and traitor. The voyage to Boston is an exciting one filled with highly dramatic incidents. "The Yankee Clipper" reaches Boston harbor first and wins a gruelling race. Jocelyn has learned to despise Richard and love Winslow and at the finish of the ocean race, they plight their troth, and all ends happily.

William Boyd and Elinor Fair are are seen together in this picture for the first time since "The Volga Boatman." Long is seen as the hard-boiled sailor. Julia Faye and John Miljan are in the supporting cast.

Ebell Sections Hold Various Pleasant Affairs

Sixth H. E. Section

One of the loveliest of spring luncheons enjoyed by the congenial group of women who form the sixth household economics section of Ebell society, was held yesterday in the new home of Mrs. W. A. Taylor, 2410 Bonnie Brae, with Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. T. L. Warren as hostesses.

Spring flowers in riotous confusion added their charm to a home that all were agreed, was ideal not only in point of design and setting (situated as it is in the midst of orange trees fragrant with blossoms and golden with fruit) but also in its qualities of homeiness, convenience and artistic beauty.

Table appointments for the 12:30 o'clock luncheon, were in harmony with the season, and featured French boquets, nut cups in pastel tints, and place cards adorned with wee Easter chickens. A three-course luncheon was served with such appointments as glossy linens, pretty china and crystal, by two young matrons, Mrs. E. E. Caldwell, daughter of Mrs. Taylor, and Mrs. Martin Warren, daughter-in-law of Mrs. T. L. Warren.

The early afternoon hours were given over to business when in addition to the usual official reports, a committee on revision of by-laws presented some desirable changes which were adopted. A nominating committee composed of Mesdames John Clarkson, G. E. Bruns and Dama Smith, was named to present nominees for next year's officers.

Plans for the section's part in the Ebell Spring Market of next Thursday and Friday, were also perfected. The section members will have charge of the "Personal Belongings" booth, devoted to aprons, lingerie and other dainty articles of intimate wear. Another important business matter was the decision to serve the annual Santa Ana High School Alumni association banquet on the night of June 11, in the clubhouse.

The remainder of the afternoon was given over to program and social features, especially enjoyable being the two piano solos given by Mrs. Caldwell. She played "Caprice" by Kreisler and "To Spring" by Greig. Both were very much enjoyed and were especially appreciated as being offered by the daughter of one of the hostesses.

The topical roll-call which is presented at each meeting was opened by Mrs. W. D. Baker reading the Easter story and many responded with helpful and entertaining items of interest on their special subjects.

Section members present were, besides the hostesses, Mdmes. W. D. Baker, Dama Smith, J. S. Smart, E. C. Nelson, Charles Carothers, Fred Zaiser, W. A. Proctor, P. A. Robinson, F. P. Jayne, S. M. Davis, Helen Heil, F. W. Wiesseman, John Clarkson G. E. Bruns, A. M. Gardner, Frank Patterson, L. C. Fairbanks and Miss Lida Crookshank.

Next meeting will take the form of a garden party with Mrs. F. W. Wiesseman, Mrs. Fred Zaiser and Miss Lida Crookshank, forming the hostess group.

Third Section

Ebell's third household economics section was to have met with Mrs. W. W. Crosier yesterday for a special session, but because of illness in her home, it was inconvenient, so Mrs. Charles Searls, section leader, graciously opened her home on South Birch street, for the meeting.

Twenty-two members were present, and spent a busy afternoon completing their plans for the "Country Store and Post Office" which they will have in connection with the Spring Market at Ebell clubhouse next week.

Mrs. Searls served appetizing refreshments at the tea hour, amidst a setting of colorful flowers.

Fifth Section

Sweet pea colors which are so radiant just at present, made the luncheon given Wednesday by Mrs. J. A. Prescott and Mrs. F. G. Spencer, at the Ebell clubhouse, one of the most vividly lovely affairs in the section's history.

Each of the small tables was arranged with linens in one of the bright tints, while all the colors were mingled in the sweet pea centerpiece. The luncheon menu was appetizing and delicious.

In the afternoon, the members continued their study of bridge, and Mrs. Jesse Goodman applied her knowledge to such good purpose that she won a most attractive prize. The player scoring high at each table, was rewarded with the cluster of sweet peas that had formed decorations at the luncheon.

All but four members were present, and two guests were greeted, Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Hill.

O. E. S. Bridge Club Meets at Rose Arbor

Sweet peas in their rainbow tints, gave color and charm to the Rose Arbor tea room yesterday when it was the setting for a friendly bridge tea at which Mrs. Jack Willey and Mrs. R. A. Kloess entertained their sister members of the Santa Ana E. O. S. Bridge club.

Beginning at 2 o'clock, the session continued until late afternoon when Mrs. Wright achieved victory and was rewarded with a pretty stenciled towel. A similar gift was presented Mrs. Maude Swarthout for second high score and consolation gift of a potted Scotch heather was given Mrs. R. V. Cox.

The hostesses then led the way to one of the adjoining private dining rooms where sweet peas and tall pink and green candles graced the table where tea and coffee were dispensed with dainty sandwiches cut in the form of the four card suits, apricot fluff in pink and green, and devil-food cake.

Easter Bunnies 'N' Beaus

Greeting and Farewell Are Both Expressed By Party Guests

When guests at a party in the B. H. Sharpless home last night, were not surrounding Mrs. Nelson Visel (Holly Lash Visel) eager to welcome her home from New York, and hear of her experiences on a recent concert tour, they were grouped around Monroe Sharpless, son of the home, interested in his plans for voice study in Colorado Springs and expressing their interest by friendly congratulations and farewells.

For the evening was planned by Mrs. Sharpless and Miss Claire Sharpless, for two purposes and two honor guests, a "welcome home" for Mrs. Visel, and a "farewell" to their son and brother who will leave Monday for Colorado Springs to continue his vocal studies under Mr. Brown of the Topping-Brown studio, Los Angeles, who will make the Colorado city his headquarters for the spring and summer.

Famed Hospitality

Their friends eagerly anticipate the famous Sharpless hospitality—a hospitality compounded of cordial greetings, interesting hosts and a charming home. Last night's party was quite as enjoyable as fancy had painted it, and as music and gayety could make it. For with two such musical folk as the complimented guests, as well as other artists present, it was to be expected that harmony would prevail in every way.

Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless and their daughter and son, are entertaining two interesting house-guests, the Messrs. Edgar C. Laughlin and John E. Handley of Los Angeles, each the fortunate possessor of a rich and well-trained voice. Mr. Laughlin is bass soloist at the Wilshire Presbyterian church in Hollywood, where Monroe Sharpless is tenor soloist, and like the latter, will sever his connection with the choir after tomorrow's Easter program, and accompany him to Colorado Springs to continue studies under Mr. Brown.

Musical Features

It was very interesting to hear three such excellent male voices as were displayed by Messrs. Sharpless, Laughlin and Handley, and with Miss Ruth Armstrong and Miss Leonora Tompkins as accompanists, they offered a varied program to which Miss Lorene Croddy, Miss Geneva Hartung and Eleanor Young Elliott also contributed.

All program features were alternated with lively intervals of chat, the hostesses dividing the guests into intimate small groups by having them assemble the cut up sections of well-known songs.

Mr. Handley's numbers were "Roses of Picardy" and "Pale Moon," while Mr. Laughlin sang "Three For Jack," "Sylvia" and "Requiem." Request numbers were given by Mr. Sharpless, and included "Spirit Flower," "O Moon of My Delight" from the Persian Garden cycle, "Down in the Forest" and "Twilight."

"At Dawning" and "Lonesome" were the songs chosen by Miss Lorene Croddy, while Miss Hartung's entertaining reading was "Her First Visit to the Butcher." Mrs. Elliott's contribution to the program was a reading also, while everyone contributed gayety and friendliness.

Late in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Sharpless, with the assistance of their daughter and niece, Miss Claire and Miss Violet Felkner, served a two-course supper, featuring the avocadoes for which the ranch is noted, in a molded salad, and in the sweets course, a variety of delicious cake baked by the daughter of the home.

Reluctant To Leave

Guests were reluctant to bring so pleasant an evening to a close, and there was more music, and continued conversation and more questions regarding Mrs. Visel's concert tour and Mr. Sharpless' study plans. To add to the general interest, was the presence of Miss Cleo Bowers and her fiance, Fred Hein, for Miss Bowers is to be an Easter bride tomorrow, the wedding to take place at 4 o'clock in the afternoon in the First Methodist church.

Warm greetings were also accorded Mr. and Mrs. Orlyn Robertson, for the party was one of the few social events Mrs. Robertson has been able to attend because of her long and serious illness following so soon after the wedding now almost two years ago. Everyone is rejoicing that she is now making a glowing return to health, and will soon be able to assume her place in the city's social life.

Other guests included Miss Arline Leggett, a houseguest of Miss Violet Felkner; Miss Ruth Armstrong, Miss Leonora Tompkins, Miss Lorene Croddy, Miss Mignonne Swales, Miss Catherine Swales, Miss Geneva Hartung, Mrs. Emmett Elliott, Mrs. Fannie Lash, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Visel, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Willits jr., Cecil Marks, and the group of houseguests.

University Women Plan For Marionette Show

Completing plans for the performance of "Uncle Wiggly at the Circus" and "Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer," by the Jean Gros Marionettes, which will be given April 26 at Yost's Spurgeon theater, the University Women's club has placed Miss Gailene Finley in charge of the tickets. Miss Finley may be reached by telephone at Santa Ana 566W.

Various members of the A. A. U. W. have tickets and they may be obtained from teachers of the Santa Ana schools, at the Y. W. C. A. and at the box office on the date of the show. Everyone is enthusiastic about these unusual marionettes, which are coming west of the Rockies for the first time this year. They always play to crowded houses, so the youth of the county as well as their parents are anticipating their appearance here. To swell the Junior College Scholarship fund is the reason for bringing these French Marionettes to Santa Ana, and as students from all over the county attend the junior college, all are interested in this event.

Thursday evening's meeting of the A. A. U. W. featured a program of unusually fine music. Miss Elizabeth Parslow, at the piano, charmed her audience with two Russian numbers, "Harmonies du Soir" by Pachulski, and "Gavotte Caprice" by Bartiewictz. Her concluding number was the favorite "Caprice Viennois" of Fritz Kreisler. Miss Emilina Richards gave two very fine violin numbers, "Reve Angelique," Rubenstein and Tartini's "Sonata" in the second movement. Miss Mary Bruner accompanied Miss Richards.

The address of the evening, "Pre-school Education," by Miss Woodworth, of the county public health department, proved very instructive. Miss Woodworth stated that the habits of health, social response and intellectual growth developed in the first five or six years of the child's life are of utmost importance. They form the foundations of his future. Prenatal life very largely determines the child's physical abilities for the first few years. The county public health department is making an effort to help young mothers, through instruction in health centers and study clubs. Very positive results are being accomplished through these organizations.

"At the close of the meeting the members expressed their deep regret for the bereavement in the home of Mrs. Robert Northcross, and sent her a token of flowers.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

First Presbyterian

The Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church met for the regular monthly meeting in the prayer meeting room of the church, Wednesday afternoon.

The session was opened with prayer by Mrs. Allen for missionaries whose names were on the prayer calendar for April 13, after which the regular business was taken up.

Mrs. E. P. Stafford, secretary of literature, said they were working on plans for the year. Mrs. Allen emphasized the biennial assembly which will convene in San Francisco in the near future. The meeting was taken in charge by Mrs. Gaebe, who presented Mrs. McFarland as leader of the devotional hour. It was the initial program for the new pastor's wife and she endeared herself to all by her presentation of the subject of "Joy," based on the text: "The time of the singing of birds has come.' "'Lasting joy is found only in God's service."

Mrs. Galloway followed with review of the work among the negroes. Illiteracy among them has fallen from 90 per cent at close of the Civil war to 10 per cent at present time.

Mrs. Galloway, Mrs. W. W. Anderson, Mrs. E. P. Stafford, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. Gall and Mrs. Silverthorn gave most excellent and interesting reports of the annual Presbyterial held in Los Angeles last week. Mrs. Gall read a very interesting letter from Grace Rowley at Shanghai, China. A playlet on the missionary magazine was given by Mrs. Gaebe and Mrs. Griset, which left its impression on the audience. The president stressed the meeting of the Federated Missionary meeting at the Presbyterian church is the hostess church. Meeting adjourned with the missionary benediction.

Luncheon Is Planned As Compliment to House-Guests

A farewell event for Mrs. Eva Walden and Miss Elizabeth Terrill of Moberly, Mo., before they left for Los Angeles, was given by Miss Alice Haines and her sister, Mrs. Ella Copeland, Thursday afternoon, at their home, 107 West Pine street.

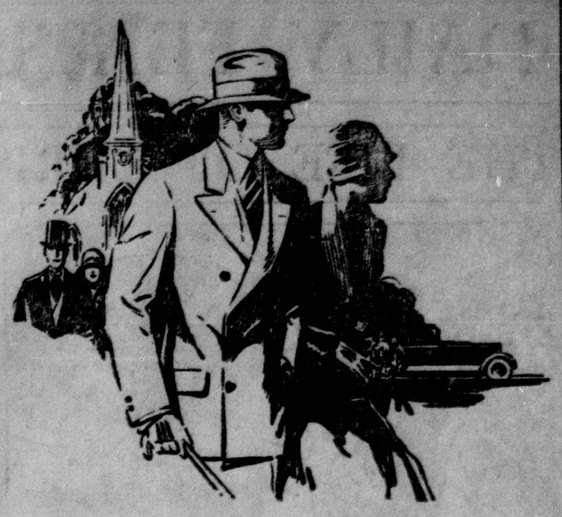

A group of former Missouri friends gathered at the invitation of the hostesses, with whom Mrs. Walden and Miss Terrill have been visiting for the past week, after completing a visit in the J. P. Williams home. Massed sweet peas in a variety of softly lovely colors, decked the home and also centered the table where an enjoyable luncheon menu was served at 1 o'clock.

The afternoon was devoted to friendly chat and reminiscences of similar gatherings in the home community.

Enjoying the hospitality of the two sisters, were their house-guests, together with Mrs. Eugenia Rutherford, Mrs. Margaret Hardin, Mrs. Felix Aubuchon, Mrs. Roy Williams, and Mrs. J. P. Williams.

Just Think! What Joy If No One Was Sick!

If no one was sick we would all be worth more and live longer. Everybody could and would do more and better work. Pain and suffering of the afflicted and their friends would be absorbed in activities and enjoyments. Have you ever watched a case of cancer or tuberculosis; of diabetes or dyspepsia? If no, you are fortunate, indeed. if yes, you know there is a hell.

Everyone who knows anything knows that the most of us have never had brain fag from studying diet. In fact, the fond mother who does most of the cooking, "gets" what we like to eat. If she doesn't she gets lots of domestic static. "Pshaw, Mom, what d'you get this whole wheat bread for?" "What, raw cabbage! Didn't we pay the gas bill! "Hello, no meat! I want something to eat." "Gee, but you're stingy with your old sugar, Ma!" These are but the a, b, c's of what mother gets, singly and ensemble, when she starts us eating as we should.

Nearly 90% of all sickness can be traced to constipation. We eat ourselves into it. And we can eat ourselves out if we learn what to eat.

What the furnace does not burn is ash and clinkers. When the mixture is too rich, the cylinders are carbonized. Well, who doesn't know that. All right, when food doesn't digest, it causes constipation. Eat what does digest. Eat whole wheat bread, green vegetables and dairy products (less meats and sweets). Yes, that would sell more milk for us. And you'd holler with glee that it did. "As you were." Try it for 60 days. Use Excelsior milk. It is preferred for every real reason.

THE TINYMITES

STORY by HAL COCHRAN — PICTURES by KNICK

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

The Tinies helped tired Peter pick and on the job they planned to stick until the peppers all were picked and nicely stored away. They worked out in the blazing sun and tried to make believe 'twas fun, but soon they found that working hard was not so much like play.

They filled the baskets to the top. Toward evening Peter shouted, "Stop! We've surely picked enough, I think, for market in the morn." He looked around and then he said, "These must be carried to the shed." The thought of lifting baskets made the Tinies look forlorn.

"Oh, don't you worry," Peter cried. "We'll give the baskets all a ride. I have a dandy little cart. I use it every day." The baskets then were piled up high. They worked and worked, and bye and bye the little cart was loaded, and they started on their way.

Then, when they reached the little shed, old Peter thanked them all and said, "I have a dandy haypile here, where you can sleep 'til late." The Tinymites all cried "Hurray!" Then scrambled in the fluffy hay. And, as he snuggled down to sleep, wee Clowny said, "It's great!"

When morning came they all arose and Scouty said, "There Peter goes. He's heading for his garden. Shall we run and help some more?" And Clowny wailed, "Oh, my! Oh, gee! You go ahead, but not for me. I worked so much the first time that I'm really very sore."

Just then down where the roadway runs, they heard a voice shout, "Hot Cross buns." "Hurrah," said Coppy, "there's some food. We have no time to kill. Let's all run down and buy a bun. 'Twill taste real good and be much fun." The Tinies did, and ate until they all had their fill.

(The Tinies are caught in a rain storm in the next story).

BEAUTY CHATS

by EDNA KENT FORBES

FRIVOLITY AND COMMON SENSE

Once upon a time I knew a woman who lived in a small town in Ohio, who had grown old (at least she seemed old) a victim to one of those odd, nameless diseases or troubles that so many of the last generation were afflicted with. Nothing was wrong, exactly, but nothing was right, and she pined and had aches, and had no energy, and generally was wasting away. Finally her doctor gave her only six months to live.

Then something odd happened. Perhaps she looked a little deeper into the eyes of the various nieces and nephews who dutifully called on her and who must inherit her money (not that she had a fortune). Anyway one day she calmly packed her trunks, left her house and furniture to be sold, took her protesting but excited servant, and wet off to New York. Also, she drew her money and sent it to a city bank so it could be easily reached when she needed it quickly.

In the city, she bought good clothes, stayed at a good hotel, went to the theaters, hunted up the people of her village who had gone to the city years before—she began to have a nice time, a gay time, for her, an interesting time at least—and she got well. She was one case of really being bored to death, she'd never had anything to live for, not even herself.

The moral is that frivolity is sometimes common sense. Some people have too much frivolity, but thousands and thousands haven't enough. You can apply this to invalids under your care, you can apply it to yourself. You—or the ill person you are nursing, needs frivolity—someone breezy and gay to visit her, bright colors and objects to look at in the sick room, meals that are interesting and dainty, at least served attractively, books and magazines that divert—and invalid clothes that make her look pretty, too.

A Reader—A few drops of ammonia in the bath water will eliminate the perspiration odor under your arms. You can follow this also with a little witch hazel to act as a mild astringent and lesson the tendency to perspire so freely.

L. R. M.—Bad cases of pimples and black heads show that elimination is faulty. To hasten the improvement, better consult the doctor. Drink plenty of water and take a full daily scrub, using a bath brush. The cure will come only by cleansing the whole system and that includes all the pores of the skin every day. Make last rinse very cold after cleansing the complexion.

G. A. P.—It dries out the secretions in the skin to bleach it very much, and you could not change a naturally dark skin to that of a fair one, no matter how much you bleached it.

SPRING TREASURES

When life resumes
Its wealth of blooms
And pansies seem to smile,
When all who choose
May walk and muse
'Tis then I seem,
As in a dream
Above me and about
To see those things
Called visionings
Which lure the spirit out.

When all is bright
With spring's delight
The lure for cash and trade
For strength or skill
And boundless will
Slackens and seems to fade.

Life's eager race
'Tis better far, I think,
By chance to find
Arbutus twined
Along a river's brink.

All joys are not
In markets got,
Nor in the fields of pride,
'Tis good to see
A blossoming tree
Adorn the countryside.
'Tis good to go
Where violets grow
Their beauty to behold,
And, seeking none,
To come upon
The jonquil's yellow gold.

NOVEL DRAMATIZED

"Daniel Deronda," the novel writen by George Eliot 50 years ago, has been dramatized and produced in London this season. The essential parts of the original dialogue have been retained, and the result is said to be a finely-worded but rather pompous drama.

WE FEAR TOO MUCH THAT WORD "PAUPERISM"

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

The death notice of a well-known minister recalls an incident that happened some years ago in his city where I was teaching school.

A little girl in my room had been absent for a number of days. The reports from the truant officer were vague and unsatisfactory, so I decided to visit the home myself and find out what was wrong.

I found the father, mother and two children living in a damp cold basement, the father and baby ill, no coal, no food—nothing!

They were Scotch people of refinement and education, in fact the father had been a teacher in a boys' school in Edinburgh. They had come to this country, had a long run of sickness and trouble, savings had gone, and here they were on the verge of starvation.

I had difficulty in getting them to acknowledge that they had used the last bit of tea and bread. But gray faces and the cry of a hungry baby told their own story.

I wasn't very old and I didn't know how to play Samaritan, but I remember stopping at the corner grocery and sending in some things, telephoning for coal and getting a doctor.

Some friends became interested and helped me out. One of them later on got the father a position as clerk.

But in the meantime there were other serious matters to be considered. There were three months rent due and the furniture was to be taken. I wrote to the minister of the church these people had attended (when they had clothes to go) and explained the situation. He came at once, put the matter into the hands of some of the church societies and the troubles of the poor family were over.

Here is the point! Why had this man and his wife not gone to the public authorities and asked for charity? It was a question I asked over and over. They would only shake their heads and say, "We couldn't. We just couldn't."

It may have been the wrong kind of pride—I don't know—but it was there. They would have died rather than ask for charity even for their children. Someway when it came from the teacher and the minister they could take it.

I often think we are too fearful of the word pauperism. Organized charity is necessary, but everyone knows of people to help. And is it a mistake? I think not.

The WOMAN'S DAY by Allene Sumner

First of all, sisters, before I can take my pen in hand to write about this little thing and that other thing, I must get a certain thing out of my system! The thing which especially irks my soul today is the high-hatiness, the know-it-all-mess, the superiority, the condescension of the majority of girl clerks. It matters not whether they clerk in a butcher shop, at a perfume counter, candy store, jewelry shop, or behind the notions counter. Ask them for a pound of weiners, and point at what you believe wieners, and they will lift a plucked eyebrow, maybe both of 'em, and say, "Oh, you mean frankfurters!" as if your ignorance was both pitiable and tragic.

PERFUME NOT SNIFFED

Now, I ask you, are clerks given their 18 per week to educate the public, or to sell to them? I was shopping for perfume this noon. I asked to sniff a certain odor. "I really cawn't take the time," said the marceled goddess of the fragrances, "I thought everyone knew what that odor was!" I slunk away, but not before I heard her next attack. It was an older woman, evidently shopping for daughter. She asked timidly for a toilet water by a French name. The goddess tittered—"Oh, my dear, you mean"—correcting her in a manner that quite wilted the poor old dear. Aside from the insolence in addressing an older woman as "dear," the correction of her pronunciation was insultingly done. I'm fed up, not only for myself, but for others. I would mildly suggest that if stores care for women's trade, instruction along these lines to their sales forces, and prompt firing of the high-hatters might do much to increase business.

WOMEN AND MANNERS

Being on the subject of manners, a certain lady writer opines that women as a whole are shockingly bad-mannered these days. In an article entitled, "This Rage We Live In," she writes:

"The woman of today would infinitely rather be pushed into a $6.60 theater seat than be courteously ushered into a 60-cent movie one. She would rather wear orchids on her shoulder than a gentleman on her arm. She would rather be dumped from a high-priced roadster than be carefully lifted from a balking Ford. She does not notice a man's rudeness. A lunch at the Ritz can smooth over anything. It is a sort of hush money that a man pays himself." And a lot more of it!

MY TUPPENCE WORTH

Oh, I'm not so sure, lady! To be sure, we have dispensed with many of the inane forms of etiquet, because both men and women have more to do these busy days than to leave cards the morning after a dinner and write bread-and-butter notes the moment they return from a house party. Women who do not hold jobs read more than they used to. They go to concerts and art exhibits and clubs and do loads of things more important than a meticulous observance of the rules that were headlined in books of etiquet. Manners, of course, are different. But I really believe that women of today demand as many real manners from both themselves and their male friends as did women of yesterday. Gee, I don't know. That sounds well, but do they?

TEAR OR GIGGLE?

If you laugh at this story instead of shedding tears, you're on my no-account list for life! The story is about a Mrs. Mary Koudek, in her 40's, and a Clarence Geib. The woman had worked in a screw factory for years, supporting herself, an invalid husband, and two children. Nothing in her life but work and more work in order to keep self alive so that she could work some more to keep self and the three others. Then came romance. Gieb, a fellow factory worker. He kidded her and ate his lunches with her in the factory every day.

Mrs. Koudek had been drained by hard work of any comeliness. But romance made her bloom a little. Something but work had come into her life. The husband had died. They were to be married. Geib had no money but she had managed to squeeze out about $450 from her years of factory work. He took it to buy the furniture. He never came back. There's no more to the story, except that Mrs. Koudek is just working on in the factory again. Yes, women are easy and all that, but—what wood pussies some men are!

Save whites of two eggs for frosting. Put egg and yolks into mixing bowl and beat until very light. Beat in sugar, continuing to use egg beater. Gradually beat in milk and butter which has been melted. Beat very hard with egg beater. Remove beater and add flour mixed and sifted with baking powder and salt. Add vanilla and beat the mixture until perfectly smooth, using a wooden spoon. Turn into an oiled and floured dripping pan and bake 30 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

Let cool slightly and cover with maple frosting.

Maple Frosting

Whites 2 eggs, 1 1-4 cups maple syrup.

Put syrup in good sized sauce pan and bring to the boiling point. Put egg whites in a bowl and beat with a dover beater until still. Add 4 tablespoons syrup, beating each tablespoonful thoroughly into whites. Let syrup cook until it holds its shape when tried in cold water but is too soft to pick up with fingers. Gradually add about one-third of the hot syrup, beating hard. Let syrup cook until a firm ball is formed when a few drops are tried in cold water and slowly add to frosting beating hard. Beat until frosting is cool and spread on cake. This makes a thick frosting that does not "cake" and dry out. You will soon tell by the "feel" of the frosting while beating the right time for cooking the syrup.

Queer Quirks of -NATURE-

WHICH INSECTS ARE DANGEROUS?

By ARTHUR N. PACK
President, American Nature Ass'n.

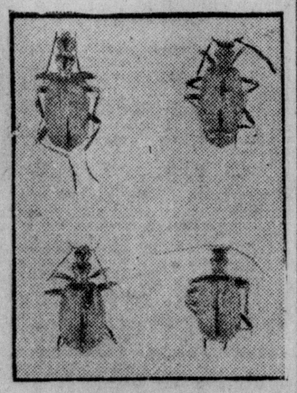

Although many people are wary of insects, believing that they all bite or sting, in reality a very small proportion are capable of inflicting any wound; and of those wounds nearly all are accidental or used as weapons of defense.

One interesting type of insect, the bombardier beetle, has an original method of defense; it uses a sort of gas bomb. When pursued it discharges, with a sound of a miniature popgun, an acid fluid which changes into a bluish smoke and covers the beetle's line of retreat.

Another species is known as the skunk of the insect world because it carries a supply of pungent, bad-smelling fluid which it can squirt out at an enemy if attacked.

To the stinging group belong the bees, wasps, yellow jackets, hornets and others of the same order. Of these only the females possess the stinging organs which are modifications of the egg-laying apparatus. A sharp-pointed sheath inflicts the wound, and an acid secretion is forced into it. Some females and workers among the ants possess similar stinging organs.

One would hardly believe that a creature as lovely as a moth or butterfly would possess or need defensive apparatus, but in their earlier stage as caterpillars some have most effective weapons.

Some Bombardier Beetles

Of all the insects, however, the ones most dangerous are those least feared—the common house fly, carrying germs from place to place; the mosquitoes, lice, fleas, bedbugs, etc. It is of these one should truly and justly be afraid.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Resurrection of the Lord Jesus

Text: Matt. 28:1-10

In the end of the Sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary, to see the sepulchre.

And, behold, there was a great earthquake; for the angel of the Lord descended from heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it.

His countenance was like lightning, and his raiment white as snow:

And for fear of him the keepers did shake, and became as dead men.

And the angel answered and said unto the women, Fear not ye; for I know that ye seek Jesus, which was crucified.

He is not here; for he is risen, as he said. Come, see the place where the Lord lay.

And go quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead; and, behold, he goeth before you into Galilee; there shall ye see him: Lo, I have told you.

And they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with fear and great joy, and did run to bring his disciples word.

And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Jesus met them, saying, All hail. And they came and held him by the feet, and worshiped him.

Then said Jesus unto them, Be not afraid; go tell my brethren, that they go into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for April 17. The Resurrection of the Lord Jesus. Matt. 28:1-10.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

It is an interesting experience to take the four gospels, or some good harmony of them, and compare the various accounts of the resurrection of Jesus and of his appearances after his resurrection to some of the disciples or to the whole company of the inner circle.

Not until one makes such careful study and comparison is he impressed with the extent to which these different narratives vary both in their statement concerning major incidents and in matters of detail. The cynic or skeptic may find in these variations and apparent discrepancies the evidences of inaccuracy and lack of credibility in the narrative. The more thoughtful student, however, must be impressed in just the opposite way.

Proof of Credibility

Surely one of the greatest evidences of the integrity of the gospel writers, and of the fact that the story of the resurrection did not come through any spirit of invention or collusion, is found in this very circumstance of the discrepancies in the narratives. Had there been collusion, had the thing been simply the invention of a few men, how careful they would all have been to have told exactly the same story in exactly the same way, or at least with not the slightest variation in matters of fact.

The one great fact upon which all the writers are agreed is that Jesus was seen by his disciples after his death on the cross and that the power of his presence was revealed to them. The historic fact of the resurrection of Jesus is beyond proof in the ordinary sense of the word. But the real proof of the resurrection of Jesus is to be found, rather, in the spiritual experience of the soul.

We do not know how Christ rose from the dead. We do not know how he appeared again, or what was the nature of his resurrected body. If we knew these things, we could explain the miracle, and a miracle that can be explained ceases to be a miracle.

Here, however, is the clear and undoubted fact. A company of the disciples of Jesus who had seen him led to be crucified, and some of whom had been present at his death agony, going from that cross discouraged and broken hearted, feeling that all their highest hopes and aspirations had been shattered, suddenly were rallied by the profoundness of a new faith and conviction that sent them forth to serve, and to suffer, and to preach with glorious conviction, a gospel that led to the founding of the Christian church.

This experience came to these disciples through the strong conviction that they had seen their Lord, that he was not dead but living, and that his spiritual presence had become for them a divine and persistent reality, strengthened them as they went to the uttermost parts of the earth telling the story of his grace and of his power to save; persistently present in the life of future generations through the power of the eternal God.

This great experience re-enforced in the experiences in the souls of Christian people today is not lightly to be set aside. But as the early Christians believed in the resurrection because they had seen Christ, so faith in the resurrection today depends for its reality and power upon the seeing of Jesus. Mere outward faith in the external fact would in itself mean little to the soul.

It is only as we come in the spirit of Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, reverently, devoutly, expectantly, that we have power to find the experience that they found. Coming in that spirit innumerable people declare that they have really found the Christ, that they have heard his voice speaking to them words o flife and good cheer. The cynic may scoff and the skeptic may bring the power of his rationalizing intellect to bear upon these things, but the man or woman who has really felt the presence of Christ knows the reality of this experience that came to the disciples.

BAPTISM AT CLOSE OF SERVICE

NEW CENTURY HIGHWAY MADE TOPIC OF TALK

Orange and Los Angeles county residents, directly interested, should create an organization to devote its efforts to the hastening of completion of the Manchester boulevard and the Century highway, in the opinion of Jake Schumacher, of Anaheim.

The Anaheim man presented his suggestion at a meeting yesterday of the Santa Ana Realty board, Schumacher pointing out that more main arteries into the county must be supplied if this county is to keep pace with growth and developments going on in and around Los Angeles and nearby communities.

Schumacher pointed to the rapid development of sections close to Los Angeles as the resu't of better highway connections, and stressed the point that progress on the two local projects is not speeding as it should.

Grover Russell, of Whittier, president of the California Real Estate association, was a visitor at the meeting, coming down to make a brief address. Picking up the suggestion of Schumacher, the Whittier man recounted some experiences he has had with community efforts in the development of main highways for the district lying between Whittier and Los Angeles, and emphasized an assertion that results were accomplished only because there had been good organization.

Russell commented on the rapid growth of residence sections between Los Angeles and the ocean and the growth of the central manufacturing center on the east side of the metropolis. Pointing out that location of factories and industrials on the west side was out of the question because of the high class residence sections, Russell declared his belief that the greatest industrial center in the world will be developed in territory between Orange county and the south side of the city of Los Angeles. In effect, he advised Orange county residents to prepare by building highways for the benefits that will accure through the building of the large industrial section south of Los Angeles.

Ed Martell, field representative of the salesmen's division of the California Real Estate association, was present, and addressed the board briefly on the campaign this week for new members for realty boards in the state.

In the course of his talk, Martell declared that Stephen Barnson, recently appointed state real estate commissioner, was adopting a policy that would permit in the business of selling of real estate only men of qualifications and integrity.

He directed attention to the fact that examinations for brokers and salesmen for securing licenses is being made more severe by Barnson than they were under former administrators of the department. He reported failure of 43 per cent of the men and women who have taken the examinations in the past few weeks.

"Real estate selling is becoming a profession and the time has passed when men without proper qualifications can hang out their shingles and sell real estate," the field representative said, in emphasizing an assertion that in the future there will be less real estate brokers and less salesmen than there are now.

CALPET SEEKING MORE CRUDE OIL

Seeking increased crude oil production, the California Petroleum corporation is entering into active development of a number of new fields where proven results have already been obtained, according to Fred V. Gordon, vice president and director of exploration, geology and lands.

The most recent purchase by Calpet has just been made in Lea county, New Mexico. This new property covers 15,000 acres in the southeastern part of the state within six miles of the Maljamar well. Three wells are already being drilled in this field, one having reached oil, and the fourth is to be started within the next few days, Gordon stated.

Plans for the launching of activities by the new Calpet corporation, of Venezuela, in developing more than 800,000 acres in the rich South American fields are well under way, Gordon reported.

Arrangement for the exploitation of this vast territory, already proven to be a rich bearing sector, was made recently through negotiations with the Pantepec Oil company of Venezuela, with the two companies dividing the profits equally and Calpet retaining the management. Calpet has agreed to expend a total of $3,500,000 during the next five years in developing these properties, some of which adjoin proven holdings of several other large American companies, spread over central and eastern Venezuela.

GOOD MORAL TAXI DRIVERS

NEW YORK, April 16.—It requires more moral character to run a taxi than a night club in this town. Taxi drivers are carefully investigated before receiving license. District Attorney Banton has found that two gunmen and a tinhorn gambler run night clubs.

GOLDEN STATE LEADS UNION IN MOTORING

That California is holding its own as the leading state in motoring is shown by figures just received by the Automobile Club of Southern California establishing this state high in percentage of families owning to or more motor vehicles. A survey just completed by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce aided by the General Federation of Women's Clubs indicates there are 18 per cent of the families owning cars which have more than one, and that 10 per cent of all the families in the country have more than one car.

California is high in the list of states with nearly a third of its car owning population having more than one vehicle. It is estimated that the private family motor cars of the country number more than 18,000,000. The number of families owning motor cars is more than 15,000,000 leaving the number of cars remaining after allotting one automobile per family, 2,779,500.

It is figured that 55.7 per cent of the families in the United States own automobiles. It is also interesting to note that many of thes have small fleets of cars.

These facts, developed for the first time, appear to indicate that the much discussed saturation point for automobiles in the United States is as far in the future as ever.

Reports for the first three months of 1927 indicate that manufacturers have produced some 5 per cent more new cars than for the same period last year and it is indicated that this percentage will be raised as 1927 passes. Apparently ther is a market for every type of automobile now being produced as the popularity of motoring is on the increase. The situation affords little satisfaction to those who stil linsist that the country has all the motor cars it can absorb.

Samson Company Wins Tire Award

For the third successive year the Samson Tire and Rubber corporation has been awarded the exclusive contract on all pneumatic tires and tubes used on the passenger cars and trucks operated by the state of California, making in all five years that the Samson corporation has served the state in this capacity since California began to award contracts for tires.

No other tire company has ever had this contract for more than one year at a time, according to Jesse Goodman, Samson distributor here.

FATALITIES IN CAR ACCIDENTS ARE CUT DOWN

A decrease of more than eight per cent is shown in deaths from motor vehicle accidents in Los Angeles county for the first three months of 1927 compared with a similar period in 1926. The figures also show that there is a slightly larger decrease in all accidental deaths throughout the county. These facts are disclosed by a preliminary report of the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

While the county shows a marked decrease in fatalities, the city of Los Angeles shows an increase. In 1926 in the first three months there were 69 killed, and in a similar period this year, the total was 78. In the entire county during the first quarter of 1926 there were 142 deaths, while in the first three months of 1927 there were 130, a decrease of 12.

There was a decided decrease in loss of life due to motor vehicles among children 15 years of age and under. The first quarter of 1926 showed 23 deaths from this cause, while so far in 1927 the total is only 17, a decrease of six.

As usual, collisions between autos and pedestrians account for the largest number of fatalities, with 61 for the three month period. This was an increase of four over a similar period last year, indicating that pedestrians are not so alert crossing streets as they might be.

Crossing the street not at an intersection resulted in 20 fatalities. The negligence of motorists at railway crossings caused 13 deaths, and 10 lives were sacrificed in electric railway and automobile collisions.

This reduction in fatalities is considered especially significant by traffic officers in view of the fact that there were approximately 11 per cent more automobiles in use in the county the first quarter of this year than there were in the first three months of 1926.

'Padre of Rains' Gets Observatory

A memorial observatory will be erected and placed in operation this year.

A giant new telescope with a 60-foot lense is being completed at Vancouver, B. C., and is soon to be shipped here. The telescope is of the reflecting type.

GAS STATION MEN TO SPONSOR DANCE

The reputation of Orange county service station men for "going over the top" in their annual social affair will not suffer any by the big event to take place at the Seal Beach ball room, at Seal Beach, Monday evening, according to L. A. LeClair, secretary of the Orange County Service Station association.

The entertainment program will start at 8 p. m., and continue to 9 p. m., and at its conclusion there will be an award of prizes, one of which will be a lease to LeClair service station at Anaheim.

Many details of the entertainment are being kept secret by the committee, but assurance is given that there will be plenty of surprises and plenty of good clean entertainment.

The announced features include numbers by Monte Weeks, vocalist and well known broadcaster; vocal solo, by Warren McGinnis, of Redlands, entitled, "The Orange Leafs"; musical saw selection by Frank Biery, San Bernardino, and impersonations by J. J. Jones.

According to the secretary, the entertainers are all stars in their respective fields.

Dancing will follow the program. In anticipation of a crowd exceeding those at past annual parties, the committee has made arrangements for two orchestras, one of which will play for street dancing, if the crowd overtaxes the capacity of the big ball room. The Llewellyn orchestra of Anaheim will play in the ball room. The committee in charge is composed of LeClair, C. Crawford and R. Rosebrook.

'Oxford Bags' Are Attacked by Paper

OXFORD, Eng., April 16.—Oxford bags will no longer be Oxford bags if the present "anti-flop" campaign of the "Isis," Oxford's official student publication, receives popular support.

"It would be to the good it more members of the university were to give up the convenient, though disgusting grey trousers in favor of complete suits," the Isis recently said. "We make frenzied efforts to be metropolitan in our mental fashions; why should we not also do so in our physical fashions?"

The official university tailor wrote to the Isis supporting the campaign declaring, "All they want now are ugly bags to flop about. Anything stylish is barred."

Announcement

The Pacific Pipe and Supply Company of Los Angeles has for the past twenty-five years sold plumbing and heating material to plumbing and heating contractors only. Recognizing the evolution that is going on in the mercantile world they adopted the policy in December of 1926 of selling direct to the public and also contracting for the installation of plumbing and heating materials.

By purchasing the plumbing, heating, and sheet metal departments of McFadden-Dale Company they have extended to the residents of Orange county the opportunity to purchase from or contract with one of the largest wholesale plumbing and heating supply houses on the Pacific coast.

FALCON-KNIGHT MAKES BOW TO ORANGE COUNTY CAR CUSTOMERS

Four Door Sedan, Two Door Coach Now on Display; More Models Expected

Tests in Many Sections of Country Show New Line Is Ready for Market

Powered with a Knight-type 6-cylinder engine, the Falcon-Knight line of automobiles today made its bow to Santa Ana, and promises to become a contender for leading honors in this field, according to Edward H. Houtz, general manager of the Knight Motor Sales, Inc., which has the agency here.

The local agency is located at 117 East Fifth street, in a room formerly used as part of the headquarters for the Crown Stage company. The room has been remodeled to suit the convenience of the agency company. Complete car service will be given.

The four-door sedan and two-door coach models of the line now are on display, and the manager anticipates display of other models later.

Prices Are Given

Representation here of the Falcon-Knight cars has been anticipated ever since factory announcement of the new product. Its competitive field will be cars selling here at around $1100. Delivery prices here will be as follows: Brougham, $1195; coupe, $1195; roadster, $1225; touring, $1175; sedan, $1295; landau, $1345; chassis, $975. The roadster is a four-passenger car, and all the others have capacity for five passengers.

Pointing out that the new line is manufactured by the Falcon Motors corporation, Detroit, Houtz said that in the past Knight-engined automobiles have been confined to the higher price field.

"The marketing of a sleeve-valve engined car to sell in the $1100 price class has been made possible only by an investment of several millions of dollars in spec-

Wider Sleighs To Fit Auto Tracks Urged

MADISON, Wis., April 16—Sleighs may have been relegated to mythology in a fair portion of the modern world, but in Wisconsin they still provide a problem importnt enough to require legislative action.

A bill to require the winter-time vehicles to have the same width as automobiles so that both can run in the same ruts, has been sent to a third reading by the senate, with indications that it will be enacted into law this term.

The runners of sleighs normally are closer together than the wheels of automobiles, with the result that in the winter time a trail broken by a wheeled vehicle cannot be followed by a sleigh and vice versa.

It is claimed that with only wide sleighs in operation any vehicle could break a trail through the snow and this trail would be a benefit to any other kind of vehicle that followed.

STUDENTS GET CHANCE TO WIN ESSAY PRIZES

Students in grammar schools, high schools and colleges of Southern California have a chance to win cash prizes for essays on safety, according to the Automobile Club of Southern California. The American Railroad association is launching a nation-wide contest among students to obtain suggestions for prevention of grade crossing accidents.

Cash prizes of $250 each are to be awarded for the best essay submitted on the subject of "Cross Crossings Cautiously." These will be given respectively to the successful grammar school student, high school student and college student preparing the best papers.

In view of the safety teaching in the public schools inaugurated by the Automobile Club of Southern California nearly five years ago, it is believed that the students of this section will be represented among the prize winners.

HIGH EFFICIENCY IN OAKLAND CARS

Oakland motor car efficiency is the result of exceptional manufacturing care. Every rotating and reciprocating unit from engine to rear axle is balanced for center of gravity and center of weight, being held to one-quarter of an ounce balance, declares George Ball, sales manager of the local Oakland dealer.

"This undeviating test limitations insure perfect balance in all reciprocating and rotating parts," Ball said. "They reduce vibrations of all kinds to a negligible factor.

"In this manner, Oakland construction practices equal the care taken in automobiles costing many times more than Oakland sixes. This is one of the reasons that Oakland has proved such a popular automobile among well versed motorists."

STUDEBAKER 'COMMANDER' ESTABLISHES HALF DOZEN SPEED, ENDURANCE RECORDS

In one of the most remarkable and grueling tests ever made with an automobile, a Studebaker Commander has just established six new speed and endurance records for fully equipped American made stock cars. The contest board of the American Automobile association, whose representatives checked and observed the entire test, today announced the result of the run which was completed April 5 at Culver City.

The Studebaker Commander covered 5000 miles in 4909 minutes, maintaining an average speed of 61.12 miles per hour. In establishing this record, the Commander also set four other records for American stock cars. A record for 2500 miles was set by the elapsed time of 40 hours, 12 minutes and 54 seconds, an average speed of 62.16 miles per hour. In 50 elapsed hours, the car had covered 3102½ miles, setting an average of 62.05 miles per hour. At 3500 miles, the elapsed times equaled 56 hours, 47 minutes, 32½ seconds, an average speed of 61.62 miles per hour. At the end of 72 hours elapsed time, the car had travelled 4414 miles at an average of 61.3 miles per hour.

The completion of the run, 5000 miles, was made at 3.03 a. m., April 5th. The elapsed time for this distance was 81 hours, 48 minutes, 22 seconds; the average speed, 61.12 miles per hour. No automobile or other vehicle in America has ever traveled so far, at such a terrific speed.

The total elapsed time included time for stopping for fuel, relief of drivers, etc. In view of this, the average speed of the car under actual running was far greater than a mile a minute. Except for one punctured tire, the replacement of a grease cup and two chassis lubrication cups damaged in quick greasing operations, no repairs

New Nash Sedan Piloted on Historic Highway by Santa Ana Dealer

BY ALFRED AULT

Old Indian haunts, interesting today because of the legendary tales, half fact and half fiction, about the early history of California, were visited at points along the route of the trip taken by the party on this week's travelogue tour in the Nash sedan supplied by O. A. Haley for the Auto Club of Orange county.

The destination of the trip was Warner's Hot Springs, far to the south in San Diego county.

Off the traveled and congested highways the trip was routed. The peace and quiet that existed over the California domains before the white man with his civilization came to disrupt it, was evident in the surroundings as the travelogue car traversed country in which the Indians and cowboys even today are unmovie-ized.

Indian council grounds and Pony Express stations were visited along the route.

$750,000,000 IN TAXES PAID BY MOTORISTS FOR ONE YEAR

Wide Expansion of Road Improvement Plans May Be Expected As Result

HUGE INCREASE OVER 1925 TOTAL

Predict Billion Dollars Will Be Paid Out Through Collections This Year

More than $750,000,000 was paid out by American motorists in the form of federal, state and municipal taxes last year.

This is an increase of $83,000,000 over the total of taxes paid in 1925.

Threats of increased gasoline taxes and promise of another record in automobile sales this year, point to approach of the billion mark in taxes by the end of this year.

Figures showing this great revenue from motorists have been issued by the department of agriculture and have been obtained from other sources.

Ten Per Cent Gain

The department of agriculture announces that the total motor vehicle registration in 1926 was 22,001,393 vehicles, which included 19,237,171 passenger cars and 2,764,222 trucks and tractors. This is an increase of more than 10 per cent over the 1925 registrations.

Receipts from registration fees, licenses and other state annual taxes were $288,282,352, as compared with $260,619,621 in 1925. Receipts from gasoline taxes in 1926 totaled $187,602,231. In 1925 they were $146,028,940.

Proportionately, federal excise taxes on passenger cars and trucks, vehicles for hire and on parts, tires and accessories, it is estimated, have brought in $155,000,000, as compared with $145,296,000 in 1925.

Local Taxes Help

Personal property taxes in 1925 were well over $100,000,000 on automobiles alone, and municipal taxes the same year have been estimated at a total of $15,000,000.

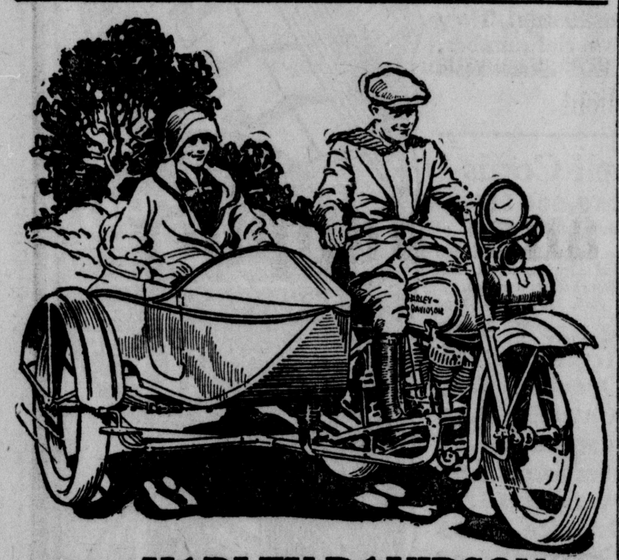

Figuring only a slight increase in these local taxes, puts the motor tax bill for 1926 past the total of $750,000,000.

Most of the money derived from this source is put back into public roads. Motorists therefore may expect a wide expansion of the road building and improvement program henceforth.

Moreland Trucks Highly Praised

"Wherever heavy loads must be hauled with a minimum amount of trouble there will be found Moreland trucks," is the declaration of P. H. Mallory, sales manager of the Moreland Motor Truck company.. Mallory amplified his statement by saying that Moreland trucks are used in the lumbering activities of British Columbia, in the copper mining districts of Arizona, by franchise haulers who must maintain schedules, and by many others who want a maximum amount of service and power.

Standard time was adopted by the United States Nov. 18, 1883.

"THE SUPREME COMBINATION OF ALL THAT IS FINE IN MOTOR CARS."

Silence

IF ANY ONE QUALITY above all others distinguishes the truly fine car it is quietness of operation. For silent ease of motion results only from fine designing and fine craftsmanship—the utmost precision in every part of body and chassis.

The Packard is the supremely silent car. For it is designed and built to standards of precision expressed in terms of even one ten-thousandth of an inch.

And Packard power—unsurpassed in any motor car—is so much more than ample that response to the driver's need or to his whim is instant, smooth and silent.

The practical result is true luxury of transportation—comfort of body and mind—the constant assurance that fine mechanism in perfect adjustment is operating smoothly and without strain.

Silence is a permanent Packard asset throughout the car's unusually long life. For the precision of Parkard parts is protected anew each day by an almost automatic lubrication system.

were made on the car during the entire run.

Harry Hartz, champion race driver, started and finished the run. He was relieved by Eddie Hearn, also one of America's great speed kings, Louis Wilson, another race driver, and Ab Jenkins, who smashed all previous records last June when he drove a Studebaker Sheriff from New York to San Francisco in 86 hours, 20 minutes.

According to observers, 5000 miles at more than a mile a minute clip is equivalent in strain and stress to 25,000 of ordinary driving. To demonstrate the splendid running condition of the Studebaker car, Hartz drove it around the mile and a quarter Culver City track several times at 70 miles an hour after the completion of the five thousandth mile.

The Studebaker Commander has also just completed three weight carrying hill climbing contests, and came out victor of them all, one of which included carrying 17 men weighing 2,794 pounds and was so remarkably performed by the Commander that there was no competition.

In another weight carrying hill climbing contest, on a hill which is three tenths of a mile in length, the Commander carried 10 men weighing 1,653 pounds over the hill without changing from high gear or slipping the clutch.

Cabriolet Added To Pontiac Line

The diversified purposes for which the four passenger Sport Cabriolet, the new car added to the new Pontiac six line, may be used has made this model one of the most popular in the line, according to O. R. Haan, Pontiac dealer.

"This comparatively new body type has enjoyed a tremendous vogue due to its many-sided utility," Haan said. "It has all the advantages of the coupe in that the front seat is entirely enclosed—and in addition has carrying capacity for two extra passengers in the rumble seat. It possesses, likewise, all the rakish qualities of design and equipment of the sport style of car. It has been found that those who desire the intimate type of car as the coupe, frequently desire extra passenger space for outings or to give friends a lift home."

OPEN MILL CREEK SOON

The Mill creek road to Big Bear lake is expected to be open May 1, according to the touring bureau of the Automobile Club of Southern California.

NEW SLEEVE VALVE CAR WILL COMPETE WITH $1000 MODELS

NEW FALCON-KNIGHT APPEARS

The large picture at the top is a view of the new Falcon-Knight Six sedan which is making its initial bow to the public today. This car is manufactured by the new Falcon Motors Corporation at Elyria, Ohio, and is the first Knight powered car to be manufactured in America in the $1,000 class. The body is low swung giving it unusual road stability. The inset at the upper right is a front view of the Falcon-Knight. A view of the Falcon factory at Elyria occupies the large portion of the center space while the inset at the left shows a closeup of the car. The executive offices of the Falcon Motors Corporation are in Detroit.

ial machinery to reduce manufacturing costs," Houtz said.

"Many of the best known executives and engineers of the industry are associated with the Falcon Motors Corporation which was formed last year to produce the new car while the factory erected to build this model is equipped with every modern facility to insure utmost accuracy in quantity manufacture During the past year numerous test cars have been undergoing road trials in practically every section of the country with the result the new model is a fully developed car ready to take its place among the best of the medium sized American cars.

"Heretofore, all cars in the lower price class were of the poppet-valve engine type and the introduction of a sleeve-valve engined car into this highly competitive field heralds one of the greatest engineering developments in the automobile industry for a number of years. In addition to the comparatively low purchase price of the new Falcon-Knight, owners of cars of this type are further benefited through the small upkeep cost of the engine due to the elimination of the valve grinding and carbon removal operations together with the longer life feature of the Knight engines.

"While the chassis has a wheelbase length of 110 inches which enables the car to be handled and parked easily, the interior of the bodies is roomy and provides complete riding comfort for five full grown passengers to a degree not found on many cars of much longer wheelbase. In the matter of appointments, the Falcon-Knight bodies are equipped in every detail; special velour upholstery, satin finish nickel hardware, one-piece windshield with automatic windshield cleaner and walnut garnishing for the cowl and doors being regular equipment.

High Performance

"Of outstanding importance in reviewing the new car is its unusually good road performance and the safety with which it may be operated at any speed. According to the Falcon-Knight engineers who claim their new car to be an outstanding performer in its class, the good performance has been obtained by the use of a high efficiency six cylinder sleeve-valve engine of 45 horse-power mounted in a low hung frame, mechanical four-wheel brakes, and by particular attention paid to the chassis design and springing arrangement. A regular sedan with five passengers accelerates from 5 to 30 miles per hour in 8 seconds and is capable of stopping in less than three times its own length.

"The engine itself follows closely the general design which has proven so satisfactory in the present makes of Knight-engined cars. According to the engineers this engine develops more h. p. per cubic inch of piston displacement than any other form of automobile engine built here today.

AUBURN DEALER OFFERS PROOF OF CAR QUALITY

Sound economics necessitates that the thinking auto-buying public demands proof of the ability of the car to perform the requirements demanded of it, before making a decision, according to A. L. Hart, Orange county distributor for Auburn cars.

"Price alone will never determine quality or performance," Hart said. "An auto buyer will no more accept his car today on the word of the dealer, than a woman will buy a can of peas, from her grocer, just because it has a pretty label on the outside.

"Today the proof of the sales talk is built into the car itself. Our sales policy, of letting the driver be the judge, is the basis for the confidence the auto-buying public has placed in the Auburn."

"Contrasting with other cars in this class the engine of the Falcon-Knight employs a fully balanced seven-bearing crankshaft. This factor in connection with the Knight sleeve-valve principle is responsible for the absence of vibration and the smoothnes sof this engine."

as Dodge Brothers Latest Improvements Become Known

These improved Dodge vehicles are distinctly finer in every phase of performance—and sales prove it!

You realize the full scope of the achievement before you have traveled a block.

In fact, before you've traveled at all. For it doesn't take an athlete to turn the front wheels while parking. This new steering unit is designed with gears and bearings for balloon tires—for women and children. And the gears shift into second, third and reverse with impressive ease.

The starter button starts the engine instantly. It's a new two-unit system—even better than the famous type it replaces—the last word in starters.

But the smoothness, zest and silence of the power flow will impress you most. The new five bearing crankshaft is chiefly responsible. Also the new engine mounting, the new muffler, the new air cleaner, and many other features.

The bodies are stauncher, too—more sturdily braced and reinforced. More gracefully designed and lacquered in smart colors. And the seats are newly tilted for maximum ease. A notably finer vehicle in every particular. Everybody says so. Prove it to yourself.

LAGUNA BEACH WRITER BRINGS OUT NEW BOOK

And now Stephen Chalmers has added a book of verse to his list of literary attainments. An integral part of the Laguna Beach art colony, he paints his pictures on a narrow margined page instead of a wide canvass.

But they are truly pictures, and glow with the lovely colors of the rainbow, imprisoned in a slender volume which he has titled "The Hermit Thrush."

"Some of these verses were written at sea; some on the trail by heathers, palm and pin," declared Chalmers in a foreword whose final statement is "If here and there the lines seem to reflect alternating sunshine and shadow, rebellious storm and philosophic calm, they may encounter similar weather in the moods of others, and bring to the latter a little of the light of fellow-feeling, the comfort of a common understanding, at the close of the long day."

And indeed Stephen Chalmers does sing in widely varying moods. Sometimes it is for the pure joy of singing as in the little love song he calls "She."

Hear this—

"And O, as the dawn was she;
for when she came
Over the heath at daybreak, envious Night,
Drawing her mantle, fled, leaving a trail
Of tears upon the grass."

Sometimes there is the love of nature—a mood apparent in "The Sun Worshipper," or the wistful mood of "Old Manuscripts" or in the slight cynicism of "Fame."

Some of the poems are strictly metrical, others are free verse. "Resurrection" the writer liked, and particularly "Romeo at Mantua" and "The Gypsy Heart."

"The Hermit Thrush" is attractively dressed in soft gray and white, and is published by Joseph Lawren, New York.

SHEET METAL WORKS IS SOLD TO L. A. FIRM

The Pacific Pipe and Supply company, of Los Angeles, one of the largest concerns of its type on the Pacific coast, today had completed negotiations for taking over the sheet metal, plumbing and heating departments of the McFadden-Dale Hardware company at 429 West Third street.

J. L. McFadden, who has had charge of these departments, will continue as manager for the new owner, it was announced.

Sale of these departments to the Los Angeles company in no way affects operation of the hardware department by the McFadden-Dale company, it was pointed out.

McFadden today declared that entrance in this field of the Pacific Pipe and Supply company creates the situation of a wholesale company selling direct to the consumer.

"The company has operated in Los Angeles for 25 years and during that time has sold plumbing and heating materials only to plumbing and material contractors," McFadden said. "The change in policy, which permits direct sales to the consumer has been instituted in recognition of the evolution that is going on in the mercantile world—the policy of selling direct to the public.

"The local plant will be known as a branch of the Los Angeles plant and complete stocks will be carried at all times. Entrance of the company in this field is of considerable importance to Orange county residents, for it means a quicker and better service on heating and plumbing materials. The company also will do contract work."

Wind Friction Cuts Down Speed

The average car, traveling 15 miles an hour, uses one-half horsepower to overcome wind friction. When its speed is doubled, however, the wind friction takes five horsepower, or 10 times as much.

A higher standard of motive power in a lower priced car

FOR years the Knight sleeve-valve engine has been the motive power of Europe's finest cars—long regarded by both European and American automotive engineers as the superior type of motor.

Now modern American manufacturing methods make this fine power plant available to American motorists in the Falcon-Knight—the first Knight-engined car in the lower price range.

With a background of fifteen years of development in such fine cars as Daimler, Minerva, Panhard, Voisin, and others, the Falcon-Knight engine, designed for unusual power, flexibility, quietness and long life, sets a new high standard of motive power in the lower price, six-cylinder class.

The Falcon-Knight chassis throughout is constructed in keeping with the excellence of its power plant. Modern improvements include mechanical four-wheel brakes, seven-bearing crankshaft and oil rectifier, but these features are incidental to the importance of the Knight sleeve-valve principle.

Falcon-Knight cars in closed body types are now on display. We invite early inspection and an opportunity to arrange a demonstration.

FRANK VAUGHN FUND BOOSTED BY $50 FRIEND

Checks and cash continue to come to The Register for the Frank Vaughn fund, although the list was officially closed several days ago.

Yesterday a man walked into the office, placed an envelope on the counter and turned and walked away. In the envelope were $50 in $10 bills. On the outside was written: "Vaughn Fund—from a friend."

The fund has almost reached the $700 mark and that coupled with the proceeds of a dance to be given at the American Legion home on Birch street on the night of April 23, is expected to swell the figures far above the $1000 mark.

Vaughn is still in the hospital in Los Angeles. Two state officers went to Los Angeles today to visit him. He wanted to hobble around the room for a while and he needed help, so his former companions were there to help him.

Vaughn lost a leg in a motorcycle accident near Costa Mesa last summer. He has been critically ill since that time and will be permanently disabled. Besides the amputation of his left leg, one arm was so badly crippled that he will never be able to use it again.

LA HABRA

LA HABRA, April 16.—Miss Claudine Zumwalt and Mrs. Claude Bills were joint hostess Thursday afternoon at an Easter party at the Baptist Church for their Sunday school classes. Egg hunts and lively games were enjoyed on the lawn.

Present were Junior and Lloyd Bills, Donald Renfro, Roger and Raymond McNay, Lillian and Bonnie Palmer, Marjorie Earley, Florence Hamilton, Nellie Call, Mildred Everitt, Francis Prindle, Vera Opperman, Mrs. Bills and Miss Zumwalt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Williams have purchased the lease and buildings of Young's Tavern No. 2 at the crossing of Central avenue and the state highway from George W. Young. The establishment is undergoing remodeling and renovating. They expect to have the store open for the Easter season.

Mrs. J. G. Davis and son, James, spent Thursday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Oliver at Bellflower.

Mrs. C. D. Monell, of Huntington Beach, has purchased the E. C. Sixta store on South Hiatt street and Mountain View avenue in Home Acres. The new owner took possession Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. Sixta, who own a ranch on Ocean avenue, have not decided what they will do in the future.

The local officers of the Y. M. C. A. will begin their annual campaign Tuesday for 1927 funds, $600, the quota set for La Habra. This money will be placed in a local bank and used for local purposes in the three clubs, Friendly Indians, Pioneer and Comrades. Those of the committee responsible for maintainance and support here are Geo. L. Gordon, chairman; Ross N. Hodson, vice chairman; F. W. Taylor treasurer, H. A. Randall, A. C. Earley, the Rev. W. E. Malan, and E. M. Berry.

Six tables of "500" were played when the regular monthly social of the American Legion and auxiliary was held at the Woman's clubhouse Tuesday evening. Prizes went to Mr. and Mrs. Inns. Preceeding the party each club held a business meeting. Mrs. Ruth Stephens sent in her resignation as sargeant at arms for the auxiliary and Mrs. John Frazier was appointed to take her place.

To celebrate her birthday anniversary, Mrs. Grady Hicks entertained at a family dinner at her home in Whittier Sunday. A basket of mixed spring flowers centered the table where the following were seated; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Muchow, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Heiden and Miss Leona Heiden, of La Habra; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Homeier, of East Whittier, William Heiden, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Eggers, of Whittier Heights, and Mr. and Mrs. Hicks.

On Monday afternon a group of women gathered at the Hicks home to help her celebrate. The afternoon was passed with games of cards with the first prize going to the honoree, Mrs. Hicks, and the consolation to Mrs. Henry Homeier. At a late hour refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the self invited guests, who included, Mrs. Longnecker jr., Mrs. Longnecker sr., Mrs. George Gates, Mrs. Fitcz, Mrs. Hale, Mrs. Malchau, Mrs. Timer, Mrs. Herman Kruse, Mrs. Grady Hicks, Mrs. Henry Homeier, of East Whittier, Mrs. Louise Muchow and Mrs. W. Studebaker Big Six now outsells the combined total of all the other cars in the world of equal or greater rated horsepower

THE Commander—with Big Six performance heightened—with One-Profit prices lowered—is smashing records right and left.

It is smashing records of speed, records of hill climbing, records of sales.

No sedan with horsepower equal to that of the Big Six, according to the ratings of the Society of Automotive Engineers and of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, sells for less than $4000. To get Big Six power you must pay more than double Big Six prices.

As a result of this big value in power, the Big Six has outsold all these other high-powered cars—eights as well as sixes. Today, as a result of the astounding performance of the New Commander models, sales of the Big Six are far in excess of the combined totals of all other cars (those manufactured in the United States and also those built abroad), which equal it in rated horsepower.

Command a Commander

No words, but only your own hand on the steering wheel, your own foot on the throttle, can tell you why men are trading in cars that cost twice as much, to secure the superior power and performance of The Commander.

'Phone us and we will give you an opportunity to drive The Commander yourself—to appreciate why it has been called "the greatest post-war engineering feat"—why Studebaker salesmen have nicknamed it "the Ball of Fire."

In the Chrysler "50", Walter P. Chrysler and his corps of engineers, studying the field of fine and low-priced six-cylinder cars, strove to produce a four-cylinder car which would unmistakably advertise its greater value by its greater performance, greater sturdiness and greater long life.

In its 50-miles-plus per hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, 25 miles to the gallon, they gave the public something immediate, something convincing, something final and conclusive with which to measure Chrysler "50" against and above anything around its class either in six or four cylinders.

Chrysler "50" has been overwhelmingly accepted by the public for what it was designed and built to be—the giant of its class in Standardized Quality, outstanding performance, full family size, complete appointment and every essential that makes for outstanding and indisputable value.

Coupe, $750; Coach, $780; Roadster, (with rumble seat), $795; Sedan, $830; Landau Sedan, $885. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax.

AUTO PLANTS ARE MODELS OF LABOR SAVING

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on the making of the modern automobile.—Editor.)

BY ISRAEL KLEIN
Science Editor, NEA Service

From the beginning, quantity production takes hold of the automobile industry.

Practically every automobile plant today, no matter how costly or how fine the product, has its chain and roller conveyors, improved machinery that replaces gangs of men and systemized methods that same time and labor.

Quality, however, is not sacrificed. In fact it is assured through faultless machine methods and greater precision instruments. Every step in the process of manufacture is checked up and tested, after which an entire assembly is tried out and checked again.

To insure this quality, however, one step in the manufacturing process has to be so precise as to forego the advantages of quality production. That is in the design of parts and the making of patterns.

Design covers every single part of the machine, down to the last nut and bolt. For this purpose the automobile shop has a large room where a score or more of mechanical engineers constantly work on plans and the improvement of their design.

"Drop Forgings" First

With blue prints of approval plans made, those requiring forging parts, such as the crankshafts, the camshafts, connecting rods and axles, go down to the forge shop. Here these parts are pounded out of bars of red-hot steel—the kind that's strong, tough and not brittle—by an electric drop hammer. Only the rough shape is attained, for machines later mill these parts down to the proper measurements.

Other plans go to the pattern-making department for the casting operations on crankcases, engine blocks and other parts.

Wood patterns aren't used in modern foundry practice, for they wouldn't last long under the stress of quantity production and constant use. So molds are made from them and aluminum patterns are cast. These may be used time on end, or until a change is made in the design.

In the foundry modern efficiency and systematic methods begin. But the very first step consists of a highly important test on which depends the success of the casting operations. That is a check on the sand used in the molds.

Proper Packing Needed

Each batch is tested to see whether it has the proper amount of binder to keep it firm and whether it will still permit the escape of the gases that form when the molten metal is poured into the mold. If these gases can't escape freely, blisters and holes form in the castings and render the parts useless.

Large overhead electric conveyors carry the sand to hoppers over the spots where the molds are poured. The pattern is set on a permanent base, a wooden box is placed around it and the sand is dropped in.

Holes are gouged out for pouring the metal, the mold is tamped down or packed in by an electric vibrator or pounding machine, it is smoothed off at the top, turned over and the pattern is lifted off.

That leaves a smooth, clean mold, half of the crankcase or other part to be cast. The other half is molded in the same way. The two are put face to face, to form an entire mold, and they are ready for casting.

Rows of Castings

Once done, the molds are lined up in a double row between which a crane travels. A large bucket of hot metal taken from the cupola is conducted down this line, stopping for a moment at each mold and pouring a quantity of the metal into it. One man does the work, sitting in a hanging cage that precedes the metal and controlling the entire operation by electricity.

The metal is allowed to set and cool. Then the molds are taken up and the sand shaken out. That sand, having undergone a chemical change under the heat of the casting, is sent through a cleansing and retreating process that makes it fit for further use.

The castings are cleaned of the sand that sticks to them. Extraneous metal is knocked or cut off, while other sections are built up by electric welding, so that the entire part may roughly fit the dimensions of the original pattern.

Electric Furnaces

Small brass parts are cast in a separate foundry, in a smaller way. Here, in the more modern plants, electric cupolas or furnaces heat the metal.

In the case of the engine block, the better plants set this part out under the weather for as long as a year to season it thoroughly. Thus this part which has to withstand the strain of great heat and intense cold in one winter day goes through a warping and shrinking process under all condition of weather.

By the end of the year, it is considered seasoned and its cylinders can be bored and ground down to size without fear of their changing under ordinary conditions of weather.

NEXT WEEK—Klein will tell how the intricate moving parts of the car are made.

Kipling Story Is Not True, Claim

LONDON, April 16.—A newly formed Kipling society is taking revenge on the author for his refusal to have anything to do with the proceedings of his admirers. At its most recent meeting, G. C. Beresford, the original of McTurk in "Stalky and Co." and a school fellow of Kipling, declared the author had drawn largely on his imagination for the thrilling incidents in which the three main characters of the book participated.

"The originals were only pale reflections of what they later became in print," said Mr. Beresford. The real youths were too highbrow for practical jokes with dead cats and catapults.

IRISH AUTHORS WIN IN BATTLE WITH PRINTERS

DUBLIN, April 16.—The battle of the books in the Irish Free State parliament has ended in favor of the authors and against the printers. The supersensitiveness of deputies and senators to the opinions held about Ireland in other countries caused at least some of them to run away from the amendment to the copyright bill, which proposed that, following the Canadian model, the Free State should insist on books by its own nationals being printed in the Free State as a condition of Free State copyright.

Same As British Bill

The bill is practically a facsimile of the British bill in 1911 and its passage puts Ireland technically right with all countries that adhere to the Berne convention. Without it there would be no copyright law in the Free State. It provides for the future and also for the interregnum between the setting up of the Free State and the present time.

Patents, trademarks and designs and authors and artists' copyright now are protected by a barbed wire entanglement of sections, subsections and clauses, making up the most complicated measure that the Free State parliament has yet passed. Even after it had gone through the dail it was so imperfect that numerous purely technical amendments had to be inserted in committee in the senate. It was on that day also that the printers met their final defeat. The bill will become law.

Hard Knocks For U. S.

The United States came in for some hard knocks in the course of the discussion in the dail and senate. Senator Yeats in particular, pitched his speech on the high note of moral rectitude and national dignity, and brushed aside with scorn the Canadian amendment which he said asked them to pass a law of cajolery.

"You cannot compel publishers to print in Ireland," he said, "you can only cajole them." He referred to a statement signed by leading men of letters and scientists in Europe protesting against the action of an American publisher who took an Irish author's work without authority, and said "the world is becoming very sensitive on literary piracy, and no Irish publishing house can possibly flourish if the whole volume of the world's opinion is against Ireland as a publishing center."

Amendment Withdrawn

At times there was much of the spirit of self-righteousness in the course of the debate, but it had its effect; it caused the Canadian amendment to be withdrawn. Mr. McGilligan, minister for industry and commerce, who had charge of the bill, assented to the case that Senator Yeats had made as to the degrading effect of the amendment. "If we keep the printing requirement," he said, "we will join the United States as the two countries in which there is legislative sanction to piracy."

Senator O'Farrell, the Labor leader, also was converted by the appeal to national righteousness. He was in favor of the Canadian amendment before the debate began, but having heard the speeches he said he would vote against it because it drove the Irish out of the Berne convention and made them outlaws in the literary world.

These altruistic sentiments would be more convincing if the bill did not contain a clause giving very wide powers of translation to Irish authors as against the original author of a work in another language.

Chauffeur Graft Reduces Sale of Cars In Germany

BERLIN, April 16.—The violent dislike of Germans for driving their own automobiles is one of many baffling problems American motor manufacturers are attempting to overcome by advertising.

Thousands of prospects decline to buy cars because operating expenses with a chauffeur would be too high, especially the 10 per cent rakeoff which chauffeurs manage to pocket on the purchase of gasoline and supplies. The German Automobile association admits its failure to cope with this widespread form of graft.

Even in medium priced cars German buyers want the chaffeur separated from the occupants, so that conversation will not be overheard.

TIRE PRICE CUT BY WESTERN AUTO

In the face of an anticipated general raise in the price of tires, the Western Auto Supply company has this week given out the announcement of a temporary decrease in the price of all tires sold throughout their chain of more than 150 western stores.

In making this announcement regarding the new price schedule, G. K. Rogers, local manager, stated that the Western Auto Supply company will conduct this two weeks' new customer drive, during which time it is hoped to add 50,000 new customers to the long list of satisfied users of Western Giant and Wear-well tires. As a special inducement to customers to buy during this spring event, a temporary cut in price has been installed at all Western Auto stores.

TIRES AT LOWEST PRICES
Guaranteed, rebuilt cords, 30x3½, $4.50; 31x4, $6.50; 32x4, $7.00; 34x4½, $9.50. All other sizes in stock. Gerwing, 312 N. Broadway. New cords, 30x3½, $6.85 and $7.25.

STRONG DRINK IN BIG DEMAND IN JERUSALEM

LONDON, April 16.—From a recent question put to the secretary of state for the colonies in the house of commons and the ensuing discussion, it appears that there has been an extraordinary increase in the number of places licensed to sell alcoholic liquor in Jerusalem and at the railway stations in Palestine.

Secretary Amery replied that he had no information on the subject, but any increase is presumably due to the large increase of population of European provenance since 1921. He did not propose to take any action in the matter.

A member asked whether this departure was not in direct opposition to the principle laid down in the covenant of the League of Nations, seeing that in regard to certain mandated territories there must be complete prohibition.

Mr. Amery: There is a great difference between an aboriginal population in Africa and the population largely European in Palestine.

Is the minister aware of another law which says that "nothing that defileth or worketh abomination or maketh a lie shall enter the New Jerusalem?"

Commander Williams of Torquay: Is it not due very largely to the increase of visitors from America?

A Labor member: Is not this changing the old tradition and a land flowing with milk and honey to a land flowing with beer and whiskey?

Another member: Is the minister prepared to accept the statement that the number of licensed premises in Jerusalem has increased from 35 to 300?

Mr. Amery: I will certainly inquire. There has no doubt been an increase.

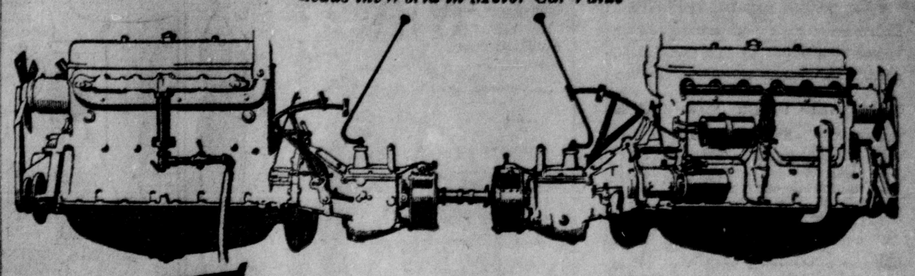

And there the matter rests for the present.

NASH

Leads the World in Motor Car Value

15 extra hours on the NASH motor to be certain it is right

The illustration shows two Nash Advanced Six engines hooked together in the great Nash testing room.

One of these motors is driving the other, to limber it up. After a few hours of this, the motor now being driven will limber up another.

Then, after 8 to 10 hours on its own power, it will be taken apart. Bearings, connecting rods and pistons carefully inspected. Valves ground and reseated.

Next, the trained ear of an engine expert will listen to the operation of this motor. When he is sure it is absolutely right, it will be mounted on its chassis.

Then another rigid examination, in the car, out on the road. 15 extra hours in all are consumed before the motors shown above are ready for their owners.

How easily Nash could save this time and expense. You would never be able to see the difference.

But every Nash owner knows there is a difference!

There are extra hours of extra care in every Nash, to lift it above the level of the average car—to be certain Nash performance leads the world!

America's Fastest Stock Car

Breaks Official A.A.A. 1000-Mile Stock Car Record

Average 68.37 miles per hour

125 Miles Ahead of Nearest Competitor

At Los Angeles Speedway, Culver City, California, March 18

Because so many companies are "making" 75 and 80 miles an hour speed in their advertisements . . .

Because it is so difficult for even special racing cars to make that speed . . .

And because Auburn knows how rare such speed is in stock cars, we decided to break the 1000 mile stock car record and give the public definite proof of Auburn's honest speed and durability in an official test, sanctioned by the A. A. A. where speedometer readings are ignored.

This record was held by a Chrysler with the very creditable speed of 59.54 miles per hour . . . a truly remarkable performance.

Auburn BREAKS this record . . . breaks it by the liberal margin of 8½ miles per hour . . . or, with an average of 68.37 M. P. H. beating the former record by two hours, 10 minutes and 22 seconds.

But, What Of It?

Great and unparalleled, as this performance is, it is ONLY INCIDENTAL with us. Conclusive proof though it is, of one of Auburn's superiorities, yet it is only fragmentary evidence of Auburn's VALUE.

There are about 7000 parts to an automobile. To achieve this record EVERY ONE of these parts in the Auburn had to be of EQUAL quality; had to function with equal efficiency and stand up with equal endurance. THAT is significant. THAT is what underwrites your investment in a car.

We made this speed test not only to establish Auburn's superiority beyond question, but also to PROTECT THE PUBLIC by stopping the wild performance claims being made by some competitors who furnish no proof except of their ability to spend fabulous sums in advertising.

They "dared" others to out-run, out-perform, and out-endure them. We would have ignored it, except that because of the established reputations of their name-plates, the public was being misled.

Not only have we settled the performance question with finality, but we confidently believe that Auburn is easily capable of doing the same thing at 85 miles per hour.

It was a SIMPLE matter for Auburn to make this speed record. In fact a ridiculously easy thing to do, even though spectacular. The important thing is that people will be attracted to the Auburn car, they will compare it point by point; they will DRIVE it and LEARN that Auburn is a BETTER automobile in EVERY respect.

Maybe you do not want to break speed records, but you DO want the built-in stamina; the inherent efficiency that makes such superiority possible. You want the most modernized car; the one that runs smoother; handles easier; rides more comfortably; gives greater VALUE in every way and remains a stranger to the repair shops. You want the most for your money now and the highest resale value later.

Drive the Auburn . . . if it does not give you ALL that you want better than any other car, you will not be asked to buy.

NEWS WRITERS VISIT WARNER'S HOT SPRINGS

cidence is related about Warner's Hot Springs, the Indian peace grounds and goal of the trip. For generations before the first Spanish explorers came north from Mexico, the hot springs had been held sacred by the Indian tribes who believed that the Great Spirit had sanctified the place. The springs were known as the "Place of Smoky Waters." Indian ceremonials were held there and the old chiefs met beside the rock grotto, from which spurting steam arose, to make their treaties.

The Spaniards respected the Indian regard for the place. However, as history records, the adventurous Americans won California and the government, after notice, leased the lands including the Indian grounds, at Warner's Hot Springs. It was not until as late as 1884 that the Indians were disturbed and required to move.

On the eve of their departure, the chief, El Capitan, pronounced a curse on the land.

Curiously, the curse seemed to doom every man and every undertaking connected with the springs. Successive owners came into possession of the land. Some met with violent death. Others, after disastrous experiences, disposed of it until finally W. G. Henshaw became owner. Henshaw, seemingly afflicted with the curse, took ill but he placed Col. Ed Fletcher in charge. Fletcher by kindness to the Indians won their friendship. An old mission church was built for them. Fiestas were held and at one of these the Indians met and revoked their curse. Henshaw, perhaps by coincidence, immediately improved in health and the springs again became the meeting ground for Indians and white men alike.

Thousands Visit Springs

The rolling columns of steam still rise from the springs and thousands of tourists annually visit the springs out of curiosity or to take advantage of the health giving qualities of its mineral waters.

When the travelogue car arrived at the springs, flakes of snow were sifting through the air to meet the steam jets. Occasional showers had been encountered and the elevation at the springs brought snow instead of rain.

To reach Warner's Springs, the route through the Santa Ana canyon to Corona, then Temecula and Aguanga, was taken. Two roads were possible for the return. One was turning at Henshaw lake and traveling by the Pala mission to Oceanside. The other, taken by the travelogue car, was through Julian, Ramona, Escondido to Oceanside. Both are of about the same distance.

Between Ramona and Escondido, the site of the San Pasqual monument, erected to the American soldiers who were killed in a battle with Mexican forces in 1864, was inspected. Kit Carson the scout, was with the American troops when they were attacked and his escape through the besieging Mexicans brought aid from San Diego. General Kearney was in command of the Americans, the tablet on the monument showed.

From Oceanside, the coast route was followed back to Santa Ana.

Road conditions in many of the places along the route were bad, due to the washout of bridges caused by the recent rains. The worst places were passable, however, with little difficulty.

A distance of 240 miles was traveled on the trip, the speedometer on the Nash sedan showed. O. A. Haley drove the car. With him in the party were A. J. Ralph of the Auto club of Orange county and newspaper men of the Santa Ana Register and the Anaheim Bulletin.

Financial and Market News

WALL ST. JOURNAL

NEW YORK, April 16.—The Wall Street Journal's financial review today said:

Apparently invigorated by a day's rest, stocks swept ahead with renewed aggressiveness in a week-end session. Although many traders remained away from the street their absece had no retarding effect on the volume of dealings.

Little trace of the irregularity which usually comes at the end of the week was observable. It was evident that the process of eveing up trading accounts had been completed on Thursday, hence the speculative traders were free to proceed with the forward movement and many of them did in aggressive style. United States Steel duplicated its record high and General Motors attained new high ground for the current bull swing while vigorous uprushes took place in Allied Chemical, South Porto Rico sugar, Remington Rand, Freeport Texas, Stewart Warner and Warner Pictures. Rails continued quiet but gave evidence of a greatly improved technical positio.

The market closed higher.

CHICAGO BD. OF TRADE

CHICAGO, April 16.—Heavy liquidation was on in wheat early today but the market showed rather good rallying power, and prices closed unchanged to ⅞ cents higher. Prices declined one cent from the early top with the May easier relatively than the deferred months. The cash market was half cent lower.

Corn was heavy right from the start and all deliveries were forced to new lows on the crop. The cash market was ½ to 1½ cents lower.

Oats were steadier than other grains. Cash demand was indifferent.

Provisions were easier.

CALIFORNIA ORANGE MARKET IS STRONG

LOS ANGELES, April 16.—(Office of the Fruit World)—The observance of the religious holidays the latter part of this week by many of those interested in various branches of the fruit trade had but little effect on the market for California navel oranges this week. A splendid pre-Easter demand has prevailed, resulting in a heavy volume of fruit being placed into consumption in all markets. An occasional soft spot has developed in the market, but this has applied more particularly to the poor fruit in the offerings. Good, sound stock has shown a strong market situation with prices generally higher.

Shipments for the seven days ending April 13, totaled 1474 cars of oranges from Southern Saiifornia districts and 294 from central as compared with 1052 cars from southern and 88 cars from central districts for the previous seven days. For the comparable week in 1926, Southern California shipped 638 cars and central 99 cars.

Florida shipments for the corresponding period were 777 cars of oranges and 744 cars of grapefruit as compared with 637 cars of oranges and 686 cars of grapefruit the previous seven days and 775 cars of oranges and 422 cars of grapefruit for the comparable week in 1926.

Latest estimates show approximately 1750 cars of navels and miscellaneous varieties of oranges to go after this week. Shipping of these varieties will be practically wound up by May first.

Florida Estimate

Based on the estimate of 2000 cars of oranges and 4000 cars of grapefruit remaining for shipment after this week. This estimate however is generally considered as being too low although no definite figures are obtainable.

There is a limited movement of California valencia oranges at this time, but most shipping organizations realize that valencias cannot compete with the fully matured navels either in point of eating quality or color and are willing to go slow to give the navels a chance to clean up. Considerable inquiry is reported for valencias however, particularly from the smaller markets where the fruit does not move as rapidly and where keeping quality is an important consideration.

While the movement of valencias from central districts is increasing, shipping will not get under full head way until well along toward May 1. Southern districts will also get started in good shape by that time although light shipments will be made by practically all Orange county houses by the twentyieth or twenty-fifth of April.

F. o. b. California quotations on fancy navels are on a basis of $3.75 to $4.00 per box and Valencias, $3.50 to $4.00.

Cash California quotations on fancy valencias are on a basis of $3.25 to $3.35 per box and navels $3.60.

Central California valencias are packing 15 to 20 per cent 126s and larger. In Southern California sizes are running very light to 126s and larger and heavy 176s to 216s.

The market on Florida oranges has strengthened considerably, the delivered price based on auction sales the past week showing an average of $4.80 per box.

Lemon Market

The market on California lemons is generally easier. The usual spring speculative demand has failed to materialize and the situation now depends largely on weather conditions favorable toward a greater consumption of lemons.

F. o. b. California quotations on extra choice stock are on a basis of $3.50 to $3.75 per box, all sizes.

There are on hand and available for sale within the next 30 days in all United States ports approximately 39 cars of foreign lemons. For the corresponding period in 1926 there were 316 cars; 1925, 284 cars and 1924, 85 cars.

Billy Evans Says

MORIARTY ON UMPIRES

"I wonder which umpire will be the first one to send you to the showers?"

That was the question a touring scribe fired at Manager George Moriarty, as I sat chatting with him on the Tiger bench at San Antonio.

"Who knows but what it may be Evans," continued the expert.

At this stage I butted into the conversation and said I would willingly withdraw from even the remote possibility of having to give George the gate for the first time.

Moriarty listened in silence to the debate. The smile that played over his face made it apparent that he was getting a kick out of our conversation.

"I'm off the umpires," he finally said, "I have had 10 years of it and know what they are up against. The Tigers are going to be a fighting ball club this summer, but they are going to go to the mat with the opposition, not the officials."

An aggressive ball player, Moriarty never had any trouble with the umpires because he was a good judge of human nature and knew how far to go. That asset should help him as a manager.

COMPETENT ARBITRATOR

Just 10 years ago, George Moriarty dropped around to my hotel in Detroit and said to me:

"I want an honest expression of your opinion on a most important subject to me." I agree to give it to him. Then—

"Do you think I would make a big league umpire?" Without the slightest hesitation, I replied:

"Positively yes and I will tell you why. In the first place you know the game, you are physically well equipped, you have plenty of courage and good judgment."

"That settles it," replied Moriarty. "I'm going to ask Johnson for a chance the first time there is a vacancy on the staff. If you don't mind, I am going to request that he starts me under your direction."

I told him that would suit me perfectly. That winter President Johnson appointed George Moriarty to the American league staff.

The following spring I was assigned the task of breaking him in as an umpire, teaching him the tricks of the game.

MANAGERIAL CAREER

George Moriarty has been a big success as an umpire. I take no credit for it in any way because he broke in under me. He had the stuff and needed only experience and the proper direction to bring it out.

With no more laurels to seek as an umpire, Moriarty has turned to another field, managing a big league ball club as another avenue to fame and fortune, I sincerely hope.

The two positions have much in common. To be a success in either, one must possess the knack of being able to handle men, to inspire and appeal to them that they will give their best efforts at all time.

The opportunity to manage the Detroit club is a choice one. I am sure George Moriarty is getting a bigger thrill out of it than when he made his debut as an umpire.

George Moriarty should be as big a success as a big league manager as he has been as an American league umpire.

BOB DRYSDALE HURLS, YOUEL BATS SANTA ANA TO VICTORY OVER POETS IN LEAGUE TILT

Santa Ana high school was still in a contending position today for Coast Preparatory league baseball laurels following its 4 to 2 victory over Whittier in a second round conflict on the Poet's diamond yesterday. The locals hit opportunely and fielded cleverly behind Bob Drysdale, their bespectacled slinger.

Drysdale was master of the situation throughout, particularly in the late innings when his curve ball had the Poet stickers swinging wildly. That he held the enemy in chancery is evinced by his record of granting but four bingles and whiffing 11 men.

Curt Youel, southpaw first sacker, was the other Poly hero. Youel has had his troubles getting his base knocks this year, all of his drives, it seemed, going straight into somebody's hands. It was Youel's day yesterday ,however, the lad drilling four safeties off Pitcher Persing of the Poets and being instrumental in two of the Santa Ana runs.

Poly got one without the assistance of a hit in the first frame, Schuchardt getting to first on a missed third strike, stealing second and third and scoring on an infield out.

Hits by Youel and Spencer gave the locals another in the second, some loose fielding by the Whittierites let Drysdale percolate around the cushions in the eighth and bingles by Blakeney and Youel entitled the Foote machine to its last marker in the ninth.

Whittier got one in the second and one in the eighth.

The victory gave Poly a 50-50 standing, the team having dropped its first league set-to to Long Beach in extra innings 5 to 4. South Pasadena comes here for the next league fracas.

TUNNEY WOULD BEAT DEMPSEY AGAIN, BELIEF

By JOE WILLIAMS

NEW YORK, April 16—Mr. Jack Dempsey is back in the headlines again talking about another duel of the digits with the great intellectual of the ring, Mr. James Joseph Tunney.

It would be much easier for some of us fellows who fell down and broke our prophetic nozzles last September trying to call the turn at the Battle of the Sesqui to take Mr. Dempsey seriously if he would do more fighting and less talking.

What Mr. Dempsey needs now is the same thing that he needed before he climbed through the ropes to lose his crown to the fighting marine last fall—and that is some honest-to-John fighting under his belt.

Will Be Beaten Again

If Dempsey comes back to the ring to meet Tunney without engaging in two or three legitimate warm-up bouts en route he will be beaten again just as badly if not worse than he was the first time.

He ought to be in there swinging loaded punches at the Sharkeys, the Maloneys and the Riskos, all of whom, I think, would topple before his attack, inaccurate and rusty though it may be.

There are only two men in the field Dempsey need proceed against with caution. One of course is Tunney. The other is Jack Delaney, the light heavyweight, a deadly sharpshooter who might have won from the Dempsey Tuney whippe just as easily as the present champion did.

Contenders Lack Class

But all the other pallid pretenders to the heavyweight throne are notably lacking in genuine class and Dempsey, in good physical condition, could step out and mingle among them with little fear of losing either caste or cash.

Dempsey can do more to bring himself to a state of fighting formidability by tossing soggy mittens in the general direction of a few earnest plug uglies who think they are on third base to a championship bout than by all the mountain climbing, bag punching and "Tunney-or-nobody" ultimatums in the world.

Dempsey lacked a lot of things in his fight with Tunney, weight, stamina, sensible advice in the corner, poise and FIGHTING EDGE It was this lack of fighting edge that made the fight look bad and caused so many ringside observers to believe it was crooked.

When Jack Lost Chance

In the fourth round Dempsey rushed Tunney to the ropes and pinned him there with an over-

THIRTY-YEAR-OLD ROOK PITCHER UPSETS DOPE

Wilcy Moore Won 30 Games and Lost Only Four During Entire 1926 Season; Huggins Hopes He Can Go Like That for New York

By BILLY EVANS

"So that's Wilcy Moore!"

The scene is laid in St. Petersburg, Fla., the time is early March and the actors are the rookie battery men of the New York Yankees.

I had just asked Miller Huggins which one of the six pitchers who were warming up was Wilcy Moore. He had pointed out a big gangling six-footer, who showed me plenty of speed for so early in the year.

"He's the baby that had a tough time last year losing four games while winning 30, isn't he?" I asked. Manager Huggins nodded assent.

"A fellow who can win 30 ball games in any old league must have pretty good stuff. He did it in the South Atlantic, a mighty fast organization. Maybe Moore will be just the man needed to bolster your pitching."

Huggins Knows Baseball

Miller Huggins knows baseball. He doesn't jump at conclusions. He has an analytical mind. There is a reason for everything in baseball with him.

"I certainly hope so," he replied after considerable hesitation. "He seems to have pretty good stuff, but it's too early to get an accurate line on a pitcher. After I have seen him work in some real ball games, I will have a better idea of his worth.

"Despite Moore's remarkable record last year, I figure it is more sensible to take a pessimistic view of his chances to make the grade.

"His first handicap is age, although that must not be considered too seriously. Moore is one of those old youngsters. He is breaking into the majors at 30 years of age, old for pitchers.

"Secondly, he has been pitching minor league baseball for five years and none of the scouts have enthused over his work. Of course, scouts make mistakes like the rest of us, but most of them know their baseball.

Moore May Be Man

"Moore may be just the man needed to round out my pitching staff, which at this time is a rather uncertain quantity. I hope he is, but the odds are against it."

That was six weeks prior to the opening of the season. In that time Moore has proved his showing in the "Sally" league was no fluke. He has already won a berth on the Yankee pitching staff. The pessimism of Huggins has changed to extreme optimism as far as Wilcy Moore is concerned.

"He has a great chance," is the way the mite manager of the Yankees now sizes him up; "he should help the Yanks a lot."

Making his career all the more colorful, is the story that the Yankees signed Moore, sight unseen, making the deal on his record of having lost only one game in his first 21 starts.

Keeps Fast Ball Low

Moore is a fast ball pitcher, who keeps his ball low. His most effective delivery is what ball players call a "sinker." This ball

CORHAN MENTIONED AS NEW MANAGER OF MISSION CLUB

SAN FRANCISCO, April 16.—While fans were awaiting details as to why Bill Leard was ousted as manager of the San Francisco Mission club of the Pacific Coast league, speculation was rife today as to who would become the new manager.

McCarthy, now in Seattle with the club has wired friends here he has no one in mind for the job. Al Walters, Mission catcher, is temporarily in charge of the team, but it is virtually certain he will not be made a permanent selection.

Roy Corhan, former Pacific Coast league player, has been mentioned as a possible selection. Corhan, now in the insurance business here, said he had not been approached by McCarthy and indicated he probably would not accept if the job were offered him.

Some fans here think trouble had been brewing between Leard and McCarthy since early this season. There were several indications, one of them last week when McCarthy turned Vean Gregg back to Birmingham because Gregg could not get his hurling arm in shape. Leard said at the time that McCarthy hadn't sought his counsel in the matter and that Gregg had been turned back without his knowledge.

Leard was the type of manager who wanted to run things his way and McCarthy is the kind of club president who wants to take full responsibility for the club's showing.

YANKS APPEAR STRONGER NOW THAN IN 1926

By HENRY L. FARRELL

NEW YORK, April 16.—Baseball for the coming season is still in swaddling clothes, but it already is apparent that one of the most robust youngsters in the American league is the New York team.

It inherited championship strength from last season and it seems to be even more capable of carrying the honor o fthe family than what might be termed its parents.

It has been shown already that the Yanks are an improved club with more reserve strength and a vastly improved shortstop.

Infield Weakness Claimed

Those who found fault with the Yanks, pointed out a weakness on the left side of the infield, with the fragile Joe Dugan with a trick knee, at third base, and Mark Koenig, with butter fingers and a distressing inclination to err in the pinches at shortstop.

The fragile Dugan, always a powerful player durfng the early season, is out of the game with a spike wound, but his absence hardly is felt with Mike Gazella, former Lafayette football star, holding down the substitute job capably.

Babe Ruth, the most noted victim of an appetite, consumed too many hot dogs during the opening game and had to retire with a stomach ache, but Ben Paschal walked up to bat and smacked out a single, whereas the Babe hadn't even smelled one.

Reserves Are Strong

There are also on the club an infielder of note, Morehart; an outfielder of note, Durst, and a catcher of note, Brabowski, who were not around last year. And also there is "Dutch" Reuther, who is minus an appendix which hampered him last season.

But the big improvement in the club is Mark Koenig, the 22-year-old shortstop.

Koenig has been the sensation of the early season. He always could hit, but now he is hitting better. He could field a little last year but this year he has been a trap for everything that has come his way.

Just a spring spurt, you might say. And perhaps it is, but Huggins doesn't think so.

COUNTRY CLUB HOLDS ANNUAL MEET MONDAY

Three new directors of the Santa Ana Country club will be elected Monday night when members of the golf organization assemble in the clubhouse for their annual meeting. The conclave will be preceded by a dinner for members only at 6 p. m.

Retiring directors include Charles G. Twist, who has served the Santa Ana Country club and its parent organization, the old Orange County Country club, in an official capacity since 1913. Edward McWilliams jr. and C. E. Downie also will complete their terms as directors next week. Twist is chairman of the handicap and tournament committee and formerly was president fo the club.

J. K. McDonald, Huntington Beach; C. H. Way, Newport Beach; J. L. Ainsworth, Costa Mesa, and F. W. Slabaugh, Ed Holmes and Frank C. Drumm are nominees for the three offices. Drumm has asked that his name be withdrawn.

Directors who remain in office are H. B. Van Dien, president; V. V. Tubbs, vice-president; R. A. Emison, chairman of the house committee; W. E. Chilson, chairman of the greens committee; J. W. Tubbs, R. O. Winkler, A. W. Griffith and W. H. Spurgeon jr.

The new board will assemble within two weeks after the annual meeting to elect officers for the coming year.

RECORDS RANK WITH BEST OF PREP CIRCUITS

Athletes Show Consistent Improvement; San Diego Leads Field in Scoring

Reviewing Coast Preparatory league performances for the four years the strong athletic federation, with which Santa Ana high school is affiliated, has been operating, it is disclosed that the times, distances and heights rate with the best Southern California circuits even if the organization is little more than a babe in years.

Continual improvement has been shown by league athletes in the 100, 220, high and low hurdles and the relay. The record in the 880 yard run is the only one that has stood the ravages since the initial meet in San Diego in 1924, Courtney's mark of 2 minutes, 3.6 seconds remaining the best ever made for this distance.

San Diego high school, coached during the years of its greatest success by "Tex" Oliver, now mentor of the Santa Ana squad, has accumulated more points in the conference classic than any other institution. The Hilltopers have totaled 158 1-2 points in the four meets as against 123 1-2 for Pasadena, 84 5-6 for Long Beach and 74 5-6 for Santa Ana. Other schools have not been in the league all four years.

Two Santa Anans, Harvey Bear and Harold Breeding, are in the record-holding class, the former holding the 220 yard dash mark jointly with Wykoff, of Glendle, while Breeding's 4:38.8 is the best made in the mile.

meet against San Diego, the bulk of the Poly squad completed its work for the year and prepared to check its suits. Six men, Captain Bear, Breeding, J. Moffatt, M. Moffatt, Jacques and Velarde, will enter the Southern California Interscholastic preliminaries at the Los Angeles Coliseum next Saturday. Those who qualify will participate in the finals at the same place April 30 and the locals who place in the finals probably will travel to Modesto May 7 to represent Santa Ana in the California State Interscholastic.

Firemen Accept Ball Game Defy

The West Coast-Walker theater's indoor baseball team didn't get by very far with its blanket challenge for a game with any Santa Ana club.

Santa Ana's fire department notified The Register today that it would be in readiness to take a crack at the theatrical outfit Tuesday morning, the place to be selected by representatives of both sides.

Trojan Ball Team Defeats Arizona

SPENCER IN LIMELIGHT AS CARDS, BEARS IN BIG MEET

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., April 16.—With ideal weather in prospect, California's Golden Bears and Stanford's Cardinals were ready this afternoon to resume the annual track and field feud which started back in 1893 and has raged every year since, excepting in 1906, the year of the San Francisco fire when both factions declared a truce.

Emerson Spencer, whose running is as much poesy as his name poetic, occupied the limelight with every indication that he would smash the world quarter-mile record.

This Stanford youth, whose home is in Modesto, was a good hurdler three years ago. While returning from a track meet, he was badly injured in an automobile mishap. He lost an eye as a result and his vision was impaired so Stanford's boy coach, "Dink" "Templeton, shiftee him from thd hurdles to middle distance runs.

Spencer's progress was slow and he attracted little serious attention until last week when he shattered all Pacific Coast records in the 440 and came within 2-5 of a second of a world mark of 11 years standing, established by Ted Meredith, who made the quarter-mile in 47 2-5 seconds.

PLANS FOR ORGANIZATION OF CHILD STUDY GROUPS MADE AT SESSION OF STATE P.-T. A.

Preliminary plans for the organization and maintenance of groups for child study and parent education, such activity to form part of the public school system of the state, were adopted at an executive board meeting of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, held this week in Paso Robles, according to word brought back by Mrs. J. V. Kelsey, president of the fourth (Orange county) district, Parent-Teacher association, who returned today from the conference.

Mrs. W. Holmes, president of the newly-organized Anaheim city federation, P.-T. A., was the other representative of Orange county at the state board meeting.

According to the plans, worked up under the direction of State Superintendent of Schools John William Cooper, the purposes of the undertaking are to present to parents, in non-technical language, the opinions of recognized experts in the field of child study, to afford parents the opportunity for directed practice in the analysis of the common problems connected with child development and child behavior, to afford opportunity for directed practice in the application of generalized information to concrete situations and to afford parents the opportunity for the directed observation of young children in a child study laboratory.

Co-Operation is Sought

In forming these study groups, Mrs. Kelsey explained, it is the policy of the state department of education to seek the co-operation of already existing organizations, whose memberships and airs indicate that they will be interested in this branch of adult education. For successful group study of problems of parenthood it is essential that there should be a frank exchange of experiences and opinions among the members of the group, the Orange county official remarked. For this reason, she added, such organizations as the California Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Federated Women's clubs, the League of Women Voters and kindred associations and would be particularly fitted to aid in initiating the organization of study groups.

The plans worked up by the state department of education, and adopted by the executive board of the California Congress of the P.-T. A., contain the following requirements for organizing study groups:

"The formation of a group of not less than 15 nor more than 30 persons, who indicate their intentions to attend the group meetings regularly through a period of not less than 12 weeks.

"A conference between the representatives of the proposed study group and the superintendent of schools or high school principal to select a suitable leader for the course and to make arrangements with a local school department concerning time and place of meetings and the keeping of necessary attendance records.

Proper Certification

"The proper certification of the chosen leader under the rules of the state board of education."

The plans further propose, in order that a study group may be recognized as a special day or evening class under the provisions of section 1750 c of the political code, that it is necessary for the leader to hold a special teaching credential in "child study and parent education." The requirements for this credential are as follows: Evidence of established leadership or prestige in the group which is to be organized as a study group, evidence of health and vitality sufficient to generate enthusiasm, recommendation of the high school principal or the superintendent of schools in the district in which the initial leadership is to be undertaken, evidence of not less than five years of first hand experience with and responsibility for children of pre-school age, evidence, given by interview or in answer to written questions, showing a grasp of the problem of parent education, the methods and content of which satisfies the commission on credentials.

Applicants for the credential must be at least 25 years of age. Credentials will be granted for one year only with no renewals. A full form of application will be required each year. Applications may be made either to the state superintendent of public instruction, Sacramento, or to the state board of education, in that city.

As in the case of other special study and evening classes, it is pointed out, study groups organized under this plan are entitled to support from state and county school funds on the basis of average daily attendance for the preceding year. During the first year such groups must be supported entirely from district school funds.

TUNNEY WOULD BEAT JACK AGAIN, CLAIM

hand right. Tunney remained against the ropes, crouched, wide open for another punch, apparently flustered and hurt. But Dempsey didn't let another punch go. Instead he floundered around and did approximately nothing.

Did it look bad? It looked terrible. And it was terrible. But Dempsey wasn't holding back intentionally. He was the victim of what you might term arrested action. Three years of inactivity had woven a web of restraint over mind, muscle and instinct. It was elementary to rush a man to the ropes and throw one punch.

Dempsey could do that and did. It was closer to science, to that FIGHTING EDGE I mentioned above, to follow the opening up with a quick destructive blast. Dempsey couldn't do that and didn't.

If Dempsey tries to fight Tunney again without trying himself out in at least two test fights he will fight much the same kind of a fight and it will end in much the same way—

And this goes even if Jack Kearns is in his corner and none but non-poisonous cows are permitted to distill the cream for the matutinal java.

THIRTY YEAR OLD ROOK UPSETS DOPE

is delivered side arm and breaks down much after the manner of the spitball, the batters usually topping it.

The freak break is made possible by the manner in which the pitcher lets the ball slide off his fingers. There is really no explanation of it that can be copied, the style being peculiar to the individual. It is a delivery similar to that used by Ernie Shore when he was one of the Boston Red Sox pitching stars.

Moore is not a strikeout pitcher. He whiffed only 112 men in the 305 innings he worked in the South Atlantic last year. He has that great asset, control, however, to a marked degree. He walked only 70 men last season while piling up his 30 wins and four defeats.

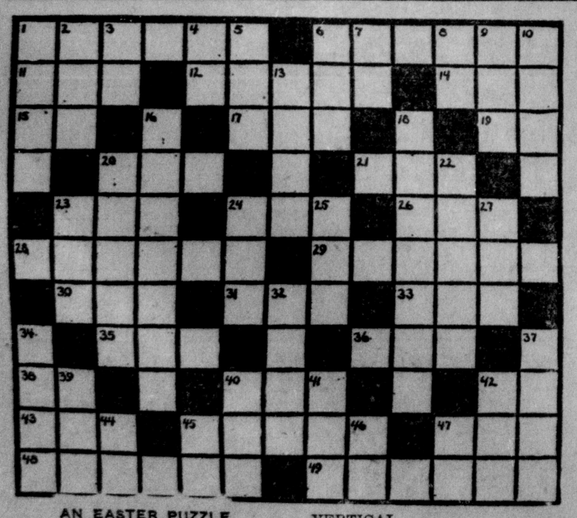

It's a long leap from Main street in Greenville, S. C., to Broadway, but Wilcy Moore appears to have successfully negotiated it.

Jack met the Bad Egg on the esplanade, later that day. "If you'll tell us how much damage was done to your clothes, McNally, Darling and I will pay for it," he said. "I don't want your money," replied Tom, looking away. "If you're willing to let bygones be bygones, I am." "It's a bargain!" cried Jack, ready to offer his hand. But Tom turned and walked away stiffly.

Though he was a fine oarsman, Jack was ineligible for the academy crew because he was a freshman. With Willie he often watched the crew practicing. 4-16

Aquaplaning was a sport that gave Jack a kick. Wearing his bathing suit, he found great fun in riding the board when it was towed by a fast motorboat.

He was racing the academy crew one day when the cable running to the speeding motorboat parted suddenly. The board shot out from beneath Jack, and he took a headlong plunge into the water. A humming bullet, which had cut the cable, skipped over the surface of the lake, barely missing the prow of the academy shell. The report of a rifle came from the woods of a distant shore. 4-16

NEWS FROM ORANGE COUNTY TOWNS

3 DISTRICTS NEAR H. B. IN OIL LIMELIGHT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 16.—Considerable leasing is going on in three districts near the Huntington Beach townsite, the Huntington Beach cemetery north of town, the Calpet location northwest of the old beach oil field and the Boulevard Farms locality near the Bolsa Chica clubhouse being the sections in the limelight just at present.

The California National Petroleum company is going ahead on its new project near the cemetery. The derrick was built last week and the company is now rigging up. Several leases have been signed up on the strength of this derrick, and others are anticipated.

The Calpet Buck 3 well, which came in a short time ago with a reported output of 300 barrels, is said to be increasing and is doing today more than 400 barrels. While a large part of the acreage near this well is already taken up, and the Calpet lease borders the gun club grounds on the south, property owners who have not leased in this locality are meeting with daily inquiries as to their acreage.

On the Boulevard Farms location interest is keener than in the two sections just mentioned, due to the fact that the land is subdivided into lots and there is a chance for lot speculation. The interest was aroused as the result of the report that the former Painted Hills lease in this locality has been taken over by Hansen and Hopkins of Long Beach, who formerly were associated with the Mid-West Oil company. According to reports, the Long Beach men are buying as well as leasing in this neighborhood, and they expect to discard the Painted Hills hole and start a new hole within the near future.

OIL COMPANY EXERCISING OPTIONS ON ORANGE LAND; DRILLING TO BEGIN JULY 1

ORANGE, April 16.—With all but one or two small tracts acquired under option for leasing and drilling privileges, the Standard Oil company yesterday began exercising its options on between 600 and 1000 acres of orange groves located between the Santa Ana river, Tustin boulevard, Collins avenue and Santiago boulevard.

The first well will be drilled in about the middle of the territory thus covered, it was said. Upon the showing made by the initial well will depend the extent of the operations, it is understood.

Whether other companies will exercise options on parcels of the tract under option to them could not be learned today. It is expected that they will, however.

Drilling must be commenced within 90 days after April 1, the leases provide. According to officials of the company the well will be commenced about July 1.

Ranchers who have signed are to receive $3 per acre rental and one sixth royalty.

A well drilled near Olive and another well near the Santa Ana river several years ago are reported to have both excellent oil signs. Subsequent investigations by geologists and experts have added to the belief that oil exists in paying quality under the acreage of orange groves.

OIL FIRM'S BEACH WALL SEEN BENEFIT

HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 16.—The high cement wall being constructed by the Standard Oil company on the ocean front will have a beneficial effect on the bathing beach, according to Merwin Rosson, city engineer. Although the wall was constructed primarily as a measure of protection only, it looks now as though it has turned out to be a beach improvement according to Rosson. What was feared to be a liability has evidently turned into an asset.

Formerly considerable loose dirt was washed down from the high bluff, but since the construction of the cement wall the waves find nothing but clean sand as they strike the shoreline, and thus the beach should be cleaner this year than usual.

The Standard expects to extend the wall 300 feet to the west, to provide room for location for another well west of Twenty-third street. It is also reported that the wall is to be extended eastward when the conditions warrant, probably as far as Ninth street.

The Standard expects to rebuild and stairways which the city has built from the bluff to the beach. The company will also keep the road open to the city's separating tank at the foot of Thirteenth street.

It has been observed that the Standard places the bluff wells approximately 300 feet apart. This leads to the conclusion that their geologists believe that one well may take care of the oil for a radius of 150 feet. If this policy has been followed by the property owners in the town-lot field, it would have meant one well to a block instead of the present congested condition.

The Rev. John J. Cantwell, of Los Angeles, bishop of the diocese, will be a guest of honor and will give the luncheon address. Among women speakers Dr. Elizabeth Sullivan, head of the psychology department of the University of California, will be the main one to address the gathering.

Other prominent persons in the activities of the council who will attend include Miss Kate Desmond, president of the council, and Miss Mary Workman, past president.

Olive Investment Firm Sells 2 Lots

OLIVE, April 16.—A. C. Fletcher and L. C. McClelland have purchased two lots adjoining the Davis and Hammond fumigating plant on the corner of Santiago boulevard and Main street from the Olive Investment company, it was learned today.

No immediate building program is contemplated by the new owners. The property has a frontage of 110 feet on Main street and 50 feet on Santiago boulevard. It is 70 feet deep. The consideration was not learned.

LOS ALAMITOS

LOS ALAMITOS, April 16.—Sweet peas were used in the decorations of the beautiful home of Mrs. J. C. Canfield, when on Wednesday afternoon she entertained the Busy Bee Girls' club. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss Selma Watkins after the regular business had been transacted.

The girls decided to supply and maintain a candy booth at the bazaar to be held by the Ladies' Aid society of the Community church on May 13. Games were played and refreshments served. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Gail Green, 222 Howard street.

An Easter program is being arranged by the members of the Sunday school of the Community church.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Johnson, of Oklahoma, have purchased the Reagan house at 433 Chestnut street, and with their two little daughters have moved in.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Watts and daughters, Marion and Marjorie are spending a pleasant week motoring in northern California, spending some time with relatives and friends in Tulare.

The Willing Workers' club will meet on the afternoon of April 19 in the brick building with Mesdames Barker and Johnson as hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Barker and Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Rose motored to Los Angeles on Thursday evening to visit the Lee Thomas family.

Buena Park Sewer Bond Meet Called

BUENA PARK, April 16.—Citizens of this community will gather at the grammar school auditorium Wednesday evening to discuss the $60,000 bond issue which will be voted upon April 25.

The mass meeting has been called by the sanitary board of the local district. The board wishes everyone to be fully informed regarding the bond issue before the election, it is reported. The bond issue will provide Buena Park with a sewer system. A school bond election is to be held April 25 also.

3 GAS METERS EXPLODE SAME TIME AT BEACH

NEWPORT BEACH, April 16.—The simultaneous explosion of three gas meters on Balboa island yesterday caused fires which threatened to cause serious losses for a short time.

Newport Beach's reorganized fire department soon had the blazes under control, however. Losses in the three fires totaled approximately $130, according to Frank Crocker, fire chief. All of the losses were covered by insurance.

The explosions are believed to have been caused by the sudden failure of gas pressure on Balboa island. It is believed that when the gas went off, fire which was burning in the three houses, was sucked down the pipes and ignited gas which was in the meters causing them to explode.

Damage estimated at $100 was caused to the home of D. Z. R. Dickinson, of 108 Ruby street, Balboa Island.

A garage in the rear of the David Beitler home, on the corner of Apoline street and South Bay front, was damaged to the extent of $25, it was estimated.

B. M. Elliott sustained damage estimated at $5, when a gas meter exploded near his home, at 806 South Bay front.

The three alarms, which came in at the same time, were the first to be received by the local fire department since its reorganization some time ago. Firemen have been wishing for a chance to work out for some time, but were hardly expecting three chances at the same time.

Pastor of Mesa Church Arranges Easter Program

COSTA MESA, April 16.—At the Easter service Sunday at 11 o'clock, the pastor, the Rev. Lyman Bayard, will preach on the theme, "Come, See the Place Where He Lay." The choir will sing, "Ye Sons and Daughters of the King," "Happy and Blest Are They," and "Christ Is Risen," from the Rev. Mr. Bayard's pageant, "The Dawning." There will be the reception of members into the church, both on confession of faith, by letter and on probation.

At the 7:30 o'clock service, the choir music will be, "No Shadows Yonder," from Gaul's "The Holy City," with solo by John Siegal, and "Jesus Arose from the Dead," from the pageant, "The Questioner," by the pastor. The play, "Into Galilee," will be presented by the following persons: Ed. Bennett, Lawrence Wright, Walter Carruthers, LeRoy Anderson, Raymond Eastman, Thelma Allen and Marie Carruthers.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, April 16.—Nellie and Fredrick McIntosh entertained at an Easter party Thursday afternoon in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIntosh, and 17 of their young friends were guests of the happy occasion.

The singing of hymns by the children was led by Mrs. McIntosh, who gave an Easter message, ending with prayer. Those present at the party were Thelma and Mildred Baily, David Gardner, Cecil Raily, Ray Furuta, Sumi Acayama, Hiroyuki Tashima, Mildred Moore, Maurine Moore, Keith Smith, Agnes DeBusk, Josephine Carpenter, Toshiko Furuta Victoria, Edward, Gladstone and Eunice Mary McIntosh and the hosts, Nellie and Fredrick McIntosh.

A special musical program was enjoyed at the Wintersburg Methodist church Wednesday evening in the pre-Easter service, which was well attended.

Mrs. J. W. McIntosh motored to Long Beach Friday morning and, accompanied by a party of Canadian friends, who are spending some time in that city, took an automobile trip.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kesterson and son made an early start Tuesday morning for an Eastern motor trip which will ultimately take them to their old home in Charleston, Ill., where they will visit relatives. The trip will cover a period of at least three months and is being made primarily in an effort to benefit Mr. Kesterson's health.

The new owner of the Kesterson property, Louise Campbell, of Huntington Beach, has taken possession of his new home.

The Misses Helen and Hazel Rairdon, of Huntington Beach, were entertained as dinner guests recently in the home of their grandmother, Mrs. Harriette Dowty.

Mrs. E. R. Bradbury, who is at the Santa Ana Valley hospital, is reported as not so well this week.

CHAMBER ASKS FINANCIAL AID FOR PAGEANT

ORANGE, April 16.—Letters asking the co-operation of the residents of Orange in the Queen Valencia court pageant to the extent of contributing from one to five dollars each to the financing of the affair, were being mailed out today from the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce headquarters.

That the pageant's cost is as yet undetermined and that every bit of financial co-operation which can be secured from the people of the city will be needed before the two-day affair has been put over, is the statement of chamber officials. Because of the field of activity which can be staged with sufficient funds, it depends in a large measure on the backing offered the project by the local residents individually how well the project goes over, those in charge aver.

The messages were sent to 2500 residents.

8 CAPISTRANO LETTUCE CARS ON WAY EAST

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO, April 16.—Eight carloads of lettuce have been shipped from San Juan Capistrano to date. The season's output will amount to 30 cars, it is estimated.

The lettuce going forward at present is of exceptionally fine quality. A carload shipped this week was declared to be the best lettuce ever sent out from this point.

Recent rains have not injured the lettuce, as they were not followed by hot weather.

FEW HOUSES IN LA HABRA VACANT

LA HABRA, April 16.—Testifying to the increasing prosperity of this section of Southern California is the fact that few houses or apartments are available for rent as against a widespread home vacancy early in 1926, according to real estate men who have conducted a survey of the city to determine conditions.

People arriving in La Habra are having difficulty in finding suitable living quarters, the survey shows. Early in 1926 there were approximately 80 vacant homes and apartments in the city, according to real estate men.

Many workers are being attracted by the oil fields in this vicinity, but the home shortage is so acute that it is believed some steps, such as a home building campaign, must be taken to care for the incoming residents.

Firemen Selling Theater Tickets

ORANGE, April 16.—Having sold approximately $250 worth of tickets to the benefit show at the Colonial theater next Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, the Orange fire department is feeling quite optimistic over the outcome of the venture.

The entire proceeds of the two night shows have been promised to the firemen by C. C. Hotchkiss, proprietor. The money will go to purchase chairs, tables and home comforts for the clubroom being installed on the second floop of the fire hall.

EASTER

RUSHING THE JOB THROUGH

All of the residents of Santa Ana, and especially those who live along the street, read with satisfaction in last evening's Register the announcement that the paving of South Main street is to be rushed through in the quickest possible time in keeping with good workmanship. All of the agencies having anything to do with the job have been brought into full co-operation with a view to economy of time.

Dragging out of a paving job to unnecessary lengths of time is one of the common injustices thrust upon the public. While contractors are most to blame, public bodies having the contracts in charge often are equally to blame. Contractors agree with ease to any date that may be set for the completion of a job, knowing full well that it is the practice among highway commissions, boards of supervisors, and city councils to give contractors extentions of time not only once but twice or thrice if the contractor finds it convenient to keep his crews busy some other place. It is a bad practice, one for which the public suffers immeasurable inconveniences.

The Santa Ana city council is arranging for the paving of South Main street, has given the contractor to understand that the job must not be allowed to lag. The example is one that could be followed with profit by all public bodies that let paving contracts.

HAMPERING PREJUDICES

Speaking at the dedication of the new building of the Baptist church in Cleveland, Ohio, of which he was a member some years ago, John D. Rockefeller, jr., made a fine plea for human co-operation for the common good.

He pointed out the fact that men of many different nationalities and different religious faiths had been employed in the construction of the building. The only thing demanded of them was good workmanship. Yet the physical structure of the church is as beautiful, as well suited to its purpose, as soundly made as it would have been if only Baptist contractors and masons had been employed, of American birth and Nordic ancestry.

"If then," Mr. Rockefeller concluded, "men of many nations and many creeds may unite in building a church, why may they not work together sympathetically and to the advancement of the common good in the building of a city, in the development of government, in the working out of questions of international trade and world relations?"

It is worth thinking about. Prejudices are freak things, anyhow, but their holders rarely realize it unless they check up on them in some such way as that used by the speaker. If we do not draw racial and religious and class lines in one place, why draw them in another? If forgetting them and working together for the accomplishment of a specific end is effective in erecting a church, why not try forgetting them and working together for all sorts of other things of even greater importance within the church and throughout the national life?

THE LATEST MIRACLE

Another scientific miracle-television is achieved. The other day Secretary Hoover, speaking into a telephone transmitter in Washington, was heard and seen simultaneously by a group in New York. It was like a combination of telephone talk and moving picture. Others spoke in turn, and the speaking faces on the screen, and the voices that seemed to come from them were true to life.

The invention, as it stands, requires a complex and costly mechanism and is not adapted for general use. Yet its beginning is no less impressive than was the beginning of the telephone, telegraph and radio. Eventually any well-to-do family may have a receiving set which will provide, in the home, musical, dramatic and oratorical entertainment now available only in public halls.

Whether this marvelous invention will be really worth while is another question. It depends on the use made of it. If it is to be used as radio is now most of the time, for the transmission of cheap and trashy stuff which dishonors the noble mechanism carrying it, the world will not have gained much.

Our entertainment programs are for the most part far inferior in merit to the scientific accomplishments which make them possible. We live in an age of miracles, possessing the powers of magicians and archangels. And yet, with undreamed of possibilities for education, social intercourse and enjoyment of the fine arts, we content ourselves with the commonplace and wallow in mediocrity.

A FLAT TIRE IN CANADA

A motorist in Chatham, Ont., was arrested the other day and fined $5.00 for running on a flat tire, as if he were not having enough trouble already.

They're a queer race, those Britishers. Fining a man for driving on a bad tire, and thereby making it worst, was obviously nobody's business but his own, and besides was calculated to benefit the tire industry.

In this enlightened country that driver would probably stop and fix his leaky tire for a couple of hours right in the middle of a busy thoroughfare. And nobody would arrest him for that, either, though some irate or absent-minded truck-driver might run over him.

DETROIT SPEEDERS

The Detroit traffic court proposes to jail 14,000 automobile speeders who have been ignoring court summonses since last December.

There must be more fast driving in Detroit than anybody has imagined, and there must be a mighty busy police force. But evidently something is wrong with the wheels of justice, when 14,000 citizens calmly ignore a police order to appear in court.

The plan now is to assign 10 motorcycle men to the special duty of rounding up those 14,000 delinquent offenders and bringing them into court, where the judge will sentence them all to spend a night in jail.

If they try to do it all at once, Detroit will have to use the Ford factory for a jail. But there is doubtless a limit to the amount of rounding up that 10 motorcycle cops can do in one day.

And then, while the delinquents are getting what's coming to them, probably thousands of new offenders will ignore new summonses.

The situation shows what happens when any court gets behind in its work. Justice needs to learn modern efficiency. Merely pretending to arrest offenders, and letting them ignore a summons and fancy they're getting away with it, breeds contempt for the law.

An Absurd Situation

Riverside Press

For a whole year California has been trying in vain to bring back from the state of New York a criminal who has been convicted and sentenced and served a portion of his term in the penitentiary. "Big Hutch" is at liberty only on sufferance of the parole authorities of this state. Being on parole and not at liberty by legal right it is undoubtedly the right of the state to recall him to prison at will. A parole is a voluntary concession made by the state under a discretion not always wisely exercised, as this case reveals, and by its very nature revokable at will. It should be of no interest, however, to the authorities of the state of New York, save as the authorities of every state should be interested in the promotion of justice and the suppression of crime in every other state as a matter of self protection.

It is absurd that the courts of New York should undertake to inquire into the processes of the courts of California in an effort to determine the minute technical accuracy of their proceedings in the case of a criminal taking refuge in New York. It should be sufficient that the courts of this state have decided and that under their decision the fugitive was sentenced and imprisoned and is at liberty only on parole. It is a sufficient impediment on justice for a criminal to be able to run the gamut of all the courts of one state without having all the courts of another state open to him also.

The fiction that the United States is composed of 48 independent nations, which may ignore each other at will and whose courts may overthrow and ignore the decisions of the courts of the others, is an absurdity under the present condition of solidarity as a whole nation. That condition must be recognized if crime is to be suppressed. A citizen of one state wanted in another for the commission of crime should be able to appeal to the federal courts only and not to the state courts. If his rights as a citizen of the United States are imperiled the courts of the United States should be able to protect them. The courts of one state should not be able to block the administration of justice in another state.

Freedom on Bail Too Easy

San Bernardino Sun

An American citizen who is proprietor of a distillery in Tia Juana, just across the line in Mexico, was recently arrested under an indictment for smuggling his liquor across the line into this country. This is his third indictment. Under the other two he was at liberty under $10,000 bonds when he committed the third offense. Third in this case means third provable. Doubtless it is the fiftieth. On this third indictment he has been released again on bonds of $20,000, and is perfectly free to go on with his smuggling operations. This is by no means an isolated case. Almost daily the press chronicles the commission of crime by some person at liberty on bonds for crime previously committed.

It would seem to be plain precautionary common sense to refuse to release on bail any person charged with crime while under bonds for a previous offense. Our bond system, as operated in almost all courts, is non-protective of the community. It carries the idea of protecting the individual rights of citizens to an absurd extent. We are so afraid that we shall keep in jail one who is innocent that we let all the guilty ones roam at large until after convicted, and even then we release them on bond during the long delay of an appeal. We seem to consider as legitimate the argument of a burglar, that he had to be bailed out so that he could burglarize enough more to pay his lawyer.

Seeds of Kindliness

San Francisco Chronicle

Dr. Hubert Work's kindly deed in establishing a loan fund for women students at the University of California has a human appeal. It had an appropriate genesis in person service for which he declined to accept expense money. The salary of the Secretary of the Interior is not munificent by modern standards. There is, therefore, in Dr. Work's gift an element of personal sacrifice as well as personal service. The use to which he assigns the funds—loans to women educating themselves to be teachers—bespeaks that understanding and a warmth of heart which endear the Secretary to those who know him best.

VITAMIN A IS MYSTERIOUS BUT ESSENTIAL

After a food has been analyzed into its fundamental chemical constituents, there still remain to be determined those mysterious ingredients now called "vitamins," because they are apparently necessary to life and to suitable body growth.

The only manner in which their presence may be determined is by actual test on growing animals. For this reason there have developed nutrition laboratories in which the effects of the vitamins are studied on white rats and on other animals. Not one of the vitamins has as yet been isolated in a chemically pure state, although the investigators are busy at work on the subject.

Vitamin A is also called fat soluble vitamin, because it was first discovered in butter fat, then the fat of egg yolk, and finally in the fat of cod liver oil. It is, of course, available in milk and in such leafy vegetables as spinach, water-cress, lettuce, celery leaves and the tops of turnips, beets and radishes. This vitamin is also abundant in liver, kidneys and sweetbreads, but not found to any extent in lean meats or in the body fats of animals, such as tallow and lard.

When the diet does not contain a sufficient amount of vitamin A, the person appears to have a lowered resistance to some infectious diseases. Furthermore, this vitamin seems to be definitely related to a disturbance of the eyes, which the scientists call an inflammation of the eye or ophthalmia, of dietary origin. It has occurred in Denmark and Newfoundland and in other places when the diet was deficient in the foods that contain vitamin A.

Apparently when the vitamin is absent from the diet the tear glands cease to produce the moisture which is necessary for keeping the eyes washed and preventing the lodgment of bacteria.

Some Japanese investigators have found a definite relationship between the vitamin A and the occurrence of gallstones and kidney stones. However, these observations have not been confirmed on a sufficiently large scale to indicate any worth-while method of prevention or treatment in connection with the use of vitamin A.

It is particularly important that infants have this vitamin, which may be supplied to them through cod liver oil.

This Complicates Things Considerable

The Safety Habit

An accident death toll in the United States of over 80,000 persons killed each year is useless, says Lewis A. DeBlois, director of the Safety Engineering Division of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters. He says accidents are caused and do not happen.

"Are 'accidents' what we term them? Excepting those of natural origin—earthquakes, cloudbursts, cyclones, etc.,—industrial experience of recent years points clearly to the conclusion that they are not. The industrial safety movement ('safety first') has shown over and over again that accidents are preventable—not merely some sorts of industrial accidents, but all sorts. If, then, they are preventable by human agency, they are evidently not accidents at all.

"While we know comparatively little of accidents outside the industrial field, it is certain that fires can be greatly reduced. We know that while some automobile drivers have many accidents, others driving under similar conditions have almost none.

"Once the safety habit is established, it is not difficult to maintain. Instead of interfering with normal work, safety efforts promote production. Both quality and quantity of output are improved, as well as general efficiency and industrial harmony."

EASTER HYMN

Easter flowers are blooming bright,
Easter skies pour radiant light,
Christ our Lord is risen in might,
Glory in the highest.

Angels caroled this sweet lay,
When in manger rude he lay;
Now once more cast grief away,
Glory in the highest.

He, then born to grief and pain,
Now to glory born again,
Calleth forth our gladest strain,
Glory to the highest.

As he riseth, rise we too,
Tune we heart and voice anew,
Offering homage glad and true,
Glory in the highest. Amen.

Suddenly the car stopped. It had no gasoline, so perhaps this was but natural. The woman occupant descended and fiddled about, but, of course, the car stayed where it was.

So in the end she found an old villager who obligingly offered to put her up for the night.

Soon after the visitor retired to bed that night she gave vent to a hysterical shriek. The old woman of the cottage appeared with a candle. "A mouse just ran across the floor!" announced the visitor.

EASTER EDITORIAL

THE lily is called the Easter flower. White and slim and fragrant as the incensed candles of the altar, it is the living symbol of the day's peace and purity.

But Easter is even more than a church festival. It is a great human festival known to people of all races, all creeds, all nations. Easter is infinite. It is as old as the world itself—as old as spring and moon and star.

Easter as we know it today is only the Christian version of the century-old pagan spring festival. Humanity gave thanks to whatever God it knew for the returning sun, for bird and bloom, for leaf-scented winds and breezes sweet and warm.

The flowers of Easter, the white lilies of the altar, but all the bright flowers that blanket the earth in loveliness when spring again comes again and tell the story of life everlasting as surely and sweetly as the surplice chant.

For [illegible], what creed, can say more loudly [illegible]. There is no death more than the bare brown bough [illegible] which, within the crucible of the sun alchemy changes into living, breathing, swaying blossom—life from death?

We live in a day of "so many Gods, so many creeds, so many roads that wind and wind." We are baffled in mind and spirit. We grope for one light and are handed a hundred from which to choose, alone and unaided, our own light. Sometimes we feel that even darkness is more honest, safer.

But on the mountain slopes where the mountain laurel grows pink today, there is only one creed—

In the woods where anemone and hepatica and wind flower sway on slender stalk today, there is only one creed—

And in the meadows beside the still or moving waters where the violet grows purple and big, there is only one creed—

A creed which says man believes that life is good and sweet to taste, and that as a man sows in his own heart so shall he reap the bounty of this teeming world.

A RICH MAN WHO IS DIFFERENT—As a rule, the rich man of the community has more money than friends. Just why this is true it is not the purpose or desire of this column to explain.

But not all men who are possessed of great wealth give up the greater part of their time and effort to the acquisition of more wealth, although some do this very thing.

Pasadena has a citizen who came from Canada to the United States with the sum of $37.50 as his entire financial resources. He had ability and health, and willingness to work hard, and, incidentally, honestly to earn money. He made money, much money, but he has always been active in forwarding every plan for the betterment of his community and liberal in his contributions of cash. Just now he is rounding up his useful career by presenting his home city with a magnificent building costing $1,500,000 to be used as an Art institute. It is his gift to the people of the city of Pasadena just as his gift of millions to the California Institute of Technology is his gift to the world.

When next this writer feels disposed, as we all occasionally do, to disparage the rich man, he will, he sincerely hopes, recall to mind the case of Arthur H. Fleming of Pasadena.

MERELY A SUGGESTION—Again one learns of several localities in the "Northern Citrus Belt, Limited," which claim to have the original Washington navel orange tree, and occasionally does some advertising by sending fruit from this alleged parent tree to well known persons throughout the east.

As a matter of fact Riverside has the honor of having grown the first Washington navel oranges, and it is difficult to understand how her claims to that distinction can be successfully disputed.

However, if any more of the upstate amateur orange growers put forth claims regarding the possession and ownership of the original Washington navel orange tree, it may be necessary to arrange matters, in this connection, on the "movable feast" plan, and thus give 'em all a show.

CALIFORNIA'S GOOD SHOWING — Now that the figures have been finally made up, it is found that, for the year 1926, California did not lead all the other states of the union in the value of farm crops, exclusive of livestock products, but with a total return of $425,730,000 she took second place.

Texas, with an area so large that Great Britain and Ireland could be so completely lost as to require the services of a search party in order to discover their whereabouts, took first place, with a total production of $631,588,000.

Crop values of the other leading agricultural states with the 1925 totals in brackets were: Iowa $428,645,000 ($482,809,000); Illinois $389,957,000 ($428,645,000); Kansas $329,882,000 ($313,404,000); and North Carolina $327,680,000 ($339,001,000).

"GOLDEN," INDEED—For many years California has been known as the "Golden State," and the name continues to be appropriate, although for a different reason than that which existed in the "days of old, the days of gold, the days of '49."

While the state is still the leading producer of gold among all the states of the Union, another golden product has taken a long lead as the greatest wealth producer of California. Compare the value of the gold produced in this state during 1924 with the money received, during the same year, for the orange crop.

In 1924, California's gold production totaled $13,150,175 while the citrus crop returns to the state for the 1924-25 season were $93,581,263.

THOSE FUNNY MISPRINTS—The subject of mis-prints, and typographical errors generally, is usually rather a delicate one with newspaper workers, but such errors are quite laughable when made by the other fellow.

That one about the accident was good enough to be remembered. It read: "The surgeon felt the patient's purse and said there was no hope."

Another one wherein the typographical error probably disclosed the truth appeared in the financial column of a big newspaper. The financial editor was discussing a new gold mine company, and the compositor made him say:

"The company is about to offer the public 1,000,000 snares'."

CHAMPIONS ALL—A Mobile young man is now engaged in the onerous, not to say useful, occupation of golfing his way across the continent; that is to say, he will attempt to drive a golf ball clear across the many miles separating the Atlantic from the Pacific.

This young man should by all means meet the individual whose claim to fame, or notoriety, consists in having swallowed an incredible number of cups of coffee within a very brief period; also that other who, at one sitting, consumed an exceedingly large quantity of spaghetti; or even Santa Ana's own "hero" who drank 36 glasses of milk at one sitting.

These champions along their various lines are certainly doing great and useful work in the world.

VERY HARD WORK—"Be kind to animals week" has come and gone, and it is fair to assume that the most of us lived up to the idea aimed at.

And it is probably just as well that one week only, of the fifty-two comprising the year, is thus set aside, for some of us would find it very hard to be kind to some animals—principally men—for more than one week out of the year.

HE FINALLY SAW IT—The best joke of the day is told by an English publication—of an Englishman, of course. A rustic was charged with committing a violent assault on a man who had called him a "hippopotamus." "But," said the magistrate, "he says that that was some months ago."

"Sure it were," replied the prisoner, "but the menagerie only came here yesterday."

A BAD SHOWING—The Boston police have put under the ban nine books for containing "obscene, indecent or impure language and manifestly tend to corrupt the morals of youth."

Almost beyond belief is the further fact that among the names of the publishers of these works are those of Harper & Bros., The Century Company, and E. P. Dutton & Co., which firms were generally believed to be in better and cleaner business than the publication of indecent books.

MAKING PROGRESS—The United States senate will doubtless learn with considerable interest that the Speaker of the English House of Commons has recently given a ruling that the term "skunk," as applied by one honourable member to another, is neither parliamentary nor gentlemanly.
